

BATTLE ON FOR PETROGRAD

SOVIETS SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES FROM REBELS

Kronstadt Shells Towns on Shore.

BULLETIN.

STOCKHOLM, March 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—A dispatch from Helsinki, Finland, sent at 8 o'clock Thursday night says: "The fortress at Kronstadt on Wednesday during the night and day destroyed the railway running to Petrograd. Kronstadt's former war commander, Gromov, has been killed during the fighting."

LONDON, March 11.—The bolshevik general, Tuchatschewski, received reinforcements from Smolensk and commenced on Wednesday a vigorous offensive on the Petrograd front, but suffered heavy losses, says a dispatch to the London Times from Riga.

War Minister Trotsky ordered the army bolshevik southwest army to aid all of Tuchatschewski, but the commissary of that army reported that he could not trust his troops and demanded special instructions.

Ship Up Light Plants. Gen. Avroff, the dictator in Petrograd is reported to have ordered the electric light and water power stations to be up.

There are 40,000 sailors and soldiers at Kronstadt. They have a plentiful supply of ammunition and mines and their morale is excellent. More than 100,000 laborers are striking.

It is reported from Shlisselsburg, near Petrograd, that the sailors of the fleet in Lakes Ladoga and Onega have refused and organized a revolutionary committee.

FRENCH TO AID REBELS

BERLIN, March 10.—Russian anti-bolshevik newspapers here declare French warships with munitions are en route to Kronstadt to aid in the fighting against the soviet regime. Optimistic reports have been received that the revolution is being felt not only in Petrograd and Moscow but the most important angles of it are in the Ukraine, Caucasus, and Siberia, and that workmen and peasants are joining in large numbers.

Among the counter measures adopted by Moscow officials is the reintroduction of terrorism; the "weapon" used by bolshevik first obtained control. Revolutionists are expected to capture towns, says the report.

They are severe fighting in the outskirts of Odessa and a fierce battle is being fought at Kiev. The government issued regular campaign communiques divided into three theaters of war: Petrograd, Ukraine, and Caucasus fronts.

PLANNED IN PARIS

(Copyright: 1921.)

PARIS, March 10.—Le Matin learns that the anti-soviet revolt which centers at Kronstadt was planned in Paris by the social revolutionary party which is the instigator of the movement. A number of leaders have left the French capital for Revel and Petrograd has already arrived there. The party is on its way, it is understood.

RED TROOPS REVOLT.

RUSSIA, March 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Three brigades of bolshevik soldiers in Moscow have deserted and joined the revolutionary forces, it was learned here. The revolt of the soldiers was prompted by the very acute food situation at the capital.

Revolutionary forces yesterday attempted to break through Kronstadt from the south. The ice, but were repulsed. Sharpshooters and auto injuries suffered Monday.

The ice and it is reported that the bolsheviks were drowned. The wounded have been brought into Kronstadt.

Auto Injuries Fatal to Three. Michael Cuddy, 48, of 2206 Park avenue, was killed yesterday by a Sears, Roebuck & Co. automobile at Arthington street and North Kedzie avenue.

Peter Byrne Dies to Save College Chum

The story of how Peter D. Byrne, a student at Georgetown university, Washington, D. C., and a son of Thomas Byrne, 4619 Grand boulevard, was killed last Sunday while protecting the life of a college chum became known here yesterday with the arrival of young Byrne's body from the east. Byrne's father is a wealthy contractor and formerly was prominent in Democratic politics.

Young Byrne was killed when he was knocked from the side of a speeding passenger train while holding another student, Frank Welsh, to prevent him from falling. The two friends had been in Baltimore on a visit. On the way home young Welsh, who recently had been released from a hospital, complained of feeling ill. The railroad coach was "stuffy," he said, and he felt faint.

Trapped on Car Platform.

Byrne suggested that they go out on the car platform and open a door so they could get more air. They did so, and while they were standing on a lower step the door flew shut, automatically locking them out. With barely room to stand on, and clinging to hand rails, the boys shouted for help, and pounded on the door, but could get no response. Gradually Welsh became weaker.

"I don't think I can stand this much longer," he shouted. "I can hardly hold on."

"Don't let go," Byrne shouted back. "I will help you."

The boy made Welsh take hold of both handrails of the car, then himself gripped them and with his body held Welsh close against the car door.

Brushed from Step.

A short time later the train rounded a curve at the entrance to a tunnel. Before Byrne could change his position, he was brushed from the step by a stone abutment. Welsh passed through in safety.

At the first stop Welsh notified the train officials of the accident. Young Byrne will be buried today.

STILL MAKE REAL BEER, THEN TAKE THE "KICK" OUT

There's lots of real beer in Chicago. Every day thousands of gallons are made. But it is supposed never to leave the breweries. When sent out the "kick" has been extracted and the beer becomes "near beer."

This information was given out last night when this question was asked several brewers.

"If physicians are allowed to prescribe beer would you have the real article on hand, or would the people have to wait?"

There is plenty of real beer on hand," declared Thomas Keely, president of the Keely Brewing company, 516 East Twenty-eighth street. "Brewers make nothing else. They never did stop making real beer after the eighteenth amendment went into effect. They merely started a process of de-alcoholization in which by a vacuum process the alcoholic content was brought within the requirements of the Volstead act."

It would be easier to supply real beer to the populace now than it is to supply near beer. The latter is a more complicated process. To turn out real beer all that would be necessary would be to put it into the bottles."

A horseman dashed out and presently stepped into the road. He was tall and well put together, not quite as straight as an arrow, but straight, and not unattractive. He was wearing a light-colored suit, a light-colored shirt, and a light-colored tie. He was looking at the camera with a slight smile.

BUCKMINSTER, PAL OF KID WEIL, FOUND IN SOUTH

Frederick K. Buckminster, an associate of Yellow Kid Weil, wire tapper and swindler, is under surveillance in Jacksonville, Fla. Sergt. Dubach and Baldwin of State's Attorney Crowe's office left last night to bring him back. Buckminster has been sought by Chief Investigator Ben Newmark ever since the latter assumed office. Recently he obtained information that Buckminster was in the south and traced him to Jacksonville. Dubach and Baldwin will reach Jacksonville Saturday.

Buckminster, a former city policeman, was convicted in 1915 of swindling Martin Hupé, a Homewood, Ill. farmer, of $3,500 in a fake horse race, and sentenced to three years in prison. He was released on bonds on a writ of supersedeas, which stayed his penitentiary sentence. Later Buckminster, Weil, and James W. Head were identified by A. A. Charles, president of the Kokomo Steel and Wire company, as three of the men who swindled him out of $110,000. Charles S. Worden, president of the First National bank of Fort Wayne, Ind., identified the trio as having mulcted him for $35,000.

Taken into custody on new indictments, Buckminster and his pals obtained bonds. That was the last heard of Buckminster.

WRITER OF NEWS WEDS AN HEIRESS TO $100,000,000

New York, March 10.—(Special.)—Behind the issuing of a marriage license at the municipal building a month ago lies a romance of international interest. The bride, Mrs. Robert L. McAlmon, was Miss Winifred Ellerman, daughter of Sir John Ellerman, English shipping king, whose fortune is estimated at more than $100,000,000. The bridegroom is a former star half back of the University of Minnesota and now a newspaper man.

Miss Ellerman came to this country last fall accompanied by a friend, Mrs. Richard Aldington, who, under the name of Hilda Dolittle, has made a name in England as a poetess. Miss Ellerman during her visit to this country used the pen name of Winifred Bryher, under which she recently had published a novel of self-revelation entitled "Development."

With Mrs. Aldington Miss Ellerman toured the middle west and portions of the Pacific coast. She remained for some time in California, returning to New York early in February. Shortly after that she met Mr. McAlmon and a quick romance followed. They were married on Feb. 14. No announcement of the wedding was made and it became known for the first time today.

BANDITS WON BY WOMAN 'JOSHER'

Broker's Wife Saves Furs and Loses Gems.

Three well dressed robbers stepped from a large touring car and held up Mrs. Suzanne Lund, her mother-in-law, Mrs. Emma Lund, and the chauffeur, Frank Milton, as the three drove up to Mrs. Lund's home, 6148 Greenwood avenue, at 11 o'clock last night. The robbers, who were armed, escaped with a diamond ring valued at $5,000.

Mrs. Lund, who is the wife of Roy A. Lund, an insurance broker with offices at 11 South La Salle street, and her mother-in-law had been in the loop attending a concert. The robbers' car followed them for several blocks before they reached their home. As they stepped from the car the robbers' flashlights drew alongside and the trio alighted. One of the men covered the chauffeur, another took the arm of Mrs. Emma Lund, and the third pressed a gun against Mrs. Suzanne Lund.

Keeps 'Her Nerve. "Take that thing away," said Mrs. Lund. "Don't make a bit of noise—that ring of yours—take it off quick," ordered one of the bandits.

"All right—here's my pocketbook," said Mrs. Lund.

While Mrs. Lund was removing the ring the robber examined the pocketbook and took $5.

"Boys, that's some ring," said Mrs. Lund. "It's worth $5,000."

"Atta boy," said the bandit. "Now peel off that coat."

Joshes Him Out of It. "Why, you wouldn't take that?" she smilingly pleaded. "I'd freeze to death this summer. Boys, it's the only coat I have."

"All right—and you needn't mind the wedding ring. Come on, partner."

The third man who had taken $5 from the chauffeur jumped into the driver's seat and the three disappeared.

According to the police the bandits drove a automobile stolen from George C. Richards, 6643 Kenmore avenue.

Short $5,000,000 in Booze; Warehouseman Indicted

New York, March 10.—(Special.)—Government agents have discovered a shortage of 167,000 gallons of liquor, valued at more than $5,000,000, at the present wholesale bootleg prices, in the government bonded warehouse operated by Edmond J. La Brocque in Newark, N. J. La Brocque has been indicted.

DOLLAR PRINCESS IS GAINING; SON RACES TO ATHENS

ATHENS, March 10.—The condition of Princess Anastasia, who was operated on Monday, was so good today that Dr. Alden Hoover, the American surgeon, who came here from Constantinople to attend the princess, returned to the Turkish capital today. As evidence of her appreciation of the services of Dr. Hoover, Princess Anastasia has expressed a desire to endow an American Red Cross hospital in Constantinople.

WILL MAKE SWIFT TRIP.

New York, March 10.—One of the speediest ocean liners and an airplane will rush William B. Leeds, 17 year old son of Princess Anastasia of Greece, from New York to Athens, to his mother's bedside.

Leeds will sail aboard the steamer Imperator Saturday. At Cherbourg he will be met by an airplane ready to fly across Europe to the Grecian capital.

He reached New York last night from the Orient, coming here to consult with specialists for treatment of one of his arms, infected by the bite of a poisonous insect while hunting in Sumatra. He decided to hurry to his stricken mother at once.

Daylight Saving Starts Here on Easter Sunday

Daylight saving, approved by referendum last November, goes into effect at 2 a. m. Easter Sunday, March 27, when clocks and watches will be set ahead one hour. The railroads are already making up their summer time tables. The suburban trains will operate on central standard time, as last year, but trains will be scheduled approximately one hour earlier.

J. A. STILLMAN ASKS DIVORCE; WIFE COUNTERS

Sensation Promised in Banker's Suit.

New York, March 10.—(Special.)—James A. Stillman, president of the National City bank, has begun an action for divorce against Mrs. Stillman, the former "Pin" Potter, and Mrs. Stillman has started a counter action.

The Stillman family is one of the most prominent socially in America and counts its wealth by millions. Mrs. Stillman is the daughter of James Brown Potter and Cora Urquhart Potter, whom Mr. Potter divorced in 1900 after she went on the stage.

Mr. Stillman, one of the youngest presidents of the large banks in New York City, was elected chairman of the board of directors of the National City bank on April 3, 1918, two weeks after the death of his father, the late James A. Stillman Sr., who had made the National City bank one of the leading financial institutions of the world.

Great Efforts at Secrecy.

Extraordinary attempts were made by lawyers to keep the divorce actions secret. The actions were started outside New York City. Mr. Stillman's plea was heard at White Plains and Mrs. Stillman's at Poughkeepsie.

When Supreme Court Justice Morchauer was asked about the reports in the White Plains court house he verified the fact that the actions had been started. Justice Morchauer said he had appointed Daniel J. Gleason of Poughkeepsie as referee to hear testimony in Mr. Stillman's suit, and had appointed John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie as guardian of a child known as Guy Stillman, who plays an important role in the case.

Content Over Alimony.

The justice said counsel for Mrs. Stillman appeared before him in Poughkeepsie last Saturday and argued for permission to serve an amended complaint in her counter action. Counsel also asked for $10,000 a month alimony and $25,000 counsel fees. Counsel for Mr. Stillman protested on the ground that Mr. Stillman's income last year had been cut from $500,000 to $250,000 by income and other taxes.

Owing to the extraordinary nature of the charges made, the divorce probably will be one of the most bitterly fought in the history of New York. Apparently it involves not only the degree of divorce but the right of the child known as Guy Stillman, who was born in 1918, to inherit a great fortune.

One Element of Mystery.

An element of mystery comes into the story at this point in the person of Guy Stillman. The Social Register gives the names of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Stillman as Anne and James. The allegations made by Mr. Stillman are said to have concerned happenings at the Stillmans' summer camp, near Three Rivers, Que. It is known that when Referee Gleason held a hearing recently a number of French-Canadian, residents of the country around the Stillmans' camp at Three Rivers, were called to testify.

It is reported Indian guides from the Stillmans' camp are also under subpoena.

Reconciliation with Her Mother.

Mrs. Stillman became estranged from her mother after the latter was divorced by James Brown Potter. They were reconciled about ten years ago after Mrs. Potter, who continues to use the name of her husband, returned from a long engagement in England.

Mrs. Potter was a prominent figure in New York society when, barely more than a bride, she gave the first evidence of her theatrical talent by her recitation of "Oster Joke." To indulge in her passion for the stage, Mrs. Potter gave up her husband and her position in society. She won success almost at once, first under the management of Harry Miner, and for several seasons appeared with Kyrie Bellew as a co-star. Mrs. Potter disappeared from the Broadway theaters about fifteen years ago and practically retired from the stage about ten years ago.

MRS. ROSENWALD LEAVES $100,000; AIDS CHARITIES

The will of Mrs. Augusta Rosenwald, mother of Julius Rosenwald, disposing of a $100,000 estate, was filed for probate yesterday.

Two hundred dollars was bequeathed to each of her two sons, Julius and Morris S. Rosenwald, and the balance is distributed among relatives, friends, and three Jewish welfare organizations.

The Associated Jewish Charities received $5,000, the Ruth club of Chicago $1,000, and the Deborah Meyer home in Chicago $500.

WAGES

Day's Developments Affecting Leading Industries.

WASHINGTON.—Protest of 100,000 packing house employees against proposed reduction of wages and working conditions is presented to White House and department of labor.

OMAHA.—A conference of representatives of 100,000 union packing house employees order strike vote taken on packers' proposal to reduce wages and change working conditions.

CHICAGO.—Packers declare danger of strike is remote. Preparations made for meeting of leaders of all crafts working in stockyards.

RAILROADS.

Western lines ask conferences with employees' representatives on wage readjustment. Two called for Chicago.

New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads propose wage cuts affecting 279,000 men. New Haven line makes offer affecting 22,000 men.

Print Strike Ballots Here Today.

A conference today decided on the form of the ballot to be used in the strike vote. A messenger tonight is speeding to Chicago to have the ballots printed and mailed to the 400 locals in the United States and Canada. These ballots will be printed Friday in Chicago and mailed Saturday. The vote will be taken next Tuesday or Wednesday, and the result of the vote in each local will be telegraphed to Chicago on Wednesday or Thursday.

Labor Listens for Harding's Wage Reply

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., March 10.—(Special.)—Determined to fight wage reductions by the railroads and industry to the last ditch, invoking strikes if necessary, organized labor carried its first protest directly to President Harding today.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, appeared at the White House seeking an audience with the president to present a memorandum contesting the right of the packers to reduce the wages and increase the hours of labor of their employees.

Receives Omaha Message.

The president had left the executive office to receive the diplomatic corps, but Mr. Morrison left the memorandum with Secretary Christian, who said he would lay it before Mr. Harding in connection with the Omaha telegram of the packing house unions protesting against the wage cuts.

Mr. Christian said afterward that the Omaha telegram reached the White House today, but had not been considered by the president.

From the White House Mr. Morrison proceeded to the department of labor, where he talked with Secretary Davis concerning the initiation of government mediation between the packers and their employees. Mr. Davis said that the mediation machinery would be set in motion if a strike should be ordered by the packer unions.

Await Railroad Development.

From official labor sources it was learned that Samuel Gompers intends to seek an early conference with President Harding on measures to halt the wage reduction movement and avert the series of strikes.

In regard to wage reductions by the railroads organized labor is awaiting developments. With the New York Central following the example of the Pennsylvania system in cutting down wages, it is believed here that all the big railroad companies will take the same action within the next few weeks. The carriers already have eliminated 289,000 employees from pay rolls since last September.

The Pennsylvania company was careful to state in its announcement of the proposed wage cut that it would proceed "in an orderly manner and in strict accord with the transportation act."

Strikes Would Be Eliminated.

This means that the employees can appeal to the labor board to investigate and report upon the justice of the wage reductions.

There is nothing in the law, however, prohibiting the railroads from carrying the wage cuts into effect either before or during the investigation of the dispute by the board. Labor officials assert that such action by the roads would lead to strikes in which event the carriers as well as the striking employees would violate that section of the transportation act requiring them to "exert every reasonable effort and adopt available means to avoid any interruption to the operation of any carrier growing out of any dispute between the carrier and the employees or subordinate officials thereof."

YARDS STRIKE PUT TO VOTE OF 100,000 MEN

Gompers Calls Chicago Meeting.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Omaha, Neb., March 10.—(Special.)—Labor leaders representing 100,000 packing house workers today put in motion the machinery for taking a nation wide strike vote.

The union leaders also requested President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor to issue a call for a meeting in Chicago next Wednesday of all the unions the members of which are employed by the packers in any capacity. Mr. Gompers later issued the call.

Print Strike Ballots Here Today.

A conference today decided on the form of the ballot to be used in the strike vote. A messenger tonight is speeding to Chicago to have the ballots printed and mailed to the 400 locals in the United States and Canada. These ballots will be printed Friday in Chicago and mailed Saturday. The vote will be taken next Tuesday or Wednesday, and the result of the vote in each local will be telegraphed to Chicago on Wednesday or Thursday.

"If the delegates to the conference correctly represent the sentiment of their locals, the vote for a strike will be unanimous," said Dennis Lane at the close of today's conference.

Start Drive to Bolster Up Unions.

The unions are to make a strenuous effort in the next few days to strengthen their local organizations everywhere. Tonight the 110 delegates attending the conference wired their local officers to make every effort to get in new members and to round up old members, who for one reason or another have dropped out.

Meetings were arranged by wire in a dozen cities. Most of the meetings will be held next Sunday afternoon.

The unions are also making an effort to unionize the independent packing houses. In Omaha a secret meeting on those lines is being held tonight.

Patrick E. Gorman, vice president, and Dennis Lane, secretary-treasurer of the butcher workmen's union, left tonight for Chicago.

Today's conference issued an order to all packing house employees throughout the country positively not to strike nor make any settlement whatsoever, without instructions from the executive board. The date and manner of conducting the strike is left to the executive committee under the form of a strike ballot which is to be mailed tomorrow.

How the Strike Ballot Reads.

"Do you favor and authorize a strike in the event that the government or our organization is unable to induce the packers to maintain the eight hour work day, in compliance with the agreement entered into with the United States department of labor?" is the wording of the ballot.

In a set of resolutions passed by the conference the executive committee is authorized to carry on the strike and make such settlement as will end the strike when the proper time comes.

Edmond S. Brennan of Kansas City, attorney for the packing house unions, tonight authorized the statement that the workmen not only were ready but anxious to arbitrate the question of wages, hours, conditions, etc. "We will leave it to President Harding to select an arbitrator, or to Secretary of Labor Davis, or to almost any man or body of men," said Mr. Brennan. "I have so notified Mr. Ogden Armour and the members of the big five concerns."

Labor May Ask Injunction.

Early today the conference discussed the proposition of asking the United States court for an injunction restraining the packers from making any change in present conditions until after Secretary of Labor Davis had investigated the contemplated changes. When the conference adjourned this point had not been settled, but it is being held in abeyance until next week. If the injunction is asked it will be in the courts in Chicago.

PACKERS ARE WAITING

Chicago packers and union officials sat tight yesterday waiting for President Harding's response to the request of labor at Omaha that he intervene in the wage controversy that threatens a strike at stockyards throughout the country.

Armour & Co. in a statement said possibility of a strike is "so remote as to be hardly worthy of consideration." Official spokesmen for the unions were in Omaha.

MAN IN RED COAT TAKEN FOR 19TH WARD MURDERS

Woman, Hurt in Row, Clew to Third Killing.

BULLETIN.

Thirty suspects were arrested early this morning by a squad of policemen commanded by Lieut. Daniel Lynch of the Desplaines street station. All denied knowledge of yesterday's murder in the Nineteenth ward.

The police last night uncovered two clues of major importance in connection with the series of assassinations in the Nineteenth ward, which are attributed to political rivalry.

Joseph Delena of 733 Loomis street, 25 years old and an Italian, was taken into custody at Racine avenue and Harrison street by Detective Sergeant John Haran of the Desplaines street police. He was shot, according to the police, on Sept. 15 last in factional political warfare in the Nineteenth ward. He is alleged to have been guilty of attempted incendiarism growing out of political hatred, and his description and clothing tallied exactly with the eye witness descriptions of the man who murdered Harry Raimondi, Ald. Powers' lieutenant, who was shot to death in his cigar store at 919 Garfield place last Tuesday.

Says He Expected Arrest.

"I knew I would be picked up," said Delena coolly when arrested. "Some of the boys told me to get rid of these clothes, but I didn't do it."

The man referred to a reddish brown overcoat and a gray cap which he wore. These tally in color and cut with those worn by the youth who shot down Raimondi, according to Robert Chisholm, a salesman for the Consumers' company, who was seated in Raimondi's store when the slayer fired. Delena was confronted with Chisholm today.

Chisholm described the slayer as being about 25 years old, light skinned for an Italian, about 5 feet 9 inches tall, and slender. This description fits Delena.

Uncover Third Murder Trail.

The police also uncovered a trail to the possible solution of the latest Nineteenth ward murder victim. The man's body was found bruised and battered in an alley behind 1122 West Congress yesterday. He was about 35 years old and had the appearance of an Italian.

The trail led to the Harrison street police station, where a woman giving the name of Bernice Pons Van Arsdale was held in an apparently intoxicated condition for several hours Wednesday night and then released.

She told the police she had been in an auto accident on the west side. She was examined by the ambulance physician who said she had apparently been subjected to a beating of some sort. This dovetailed with an account of the latest murder given to the police by Mrs. Charles Schreiber, proprietor of a store at 437 South Racine avenue.

Awakened by Scream.

"I had been awakened by a scream," she said. "As I raised the window I saw two men supporting one who was very limp in between them. A taxi cab was standing near by. As I watched I heard a woman in the cab scream again. There were mutterings and oaths, and then I heard a woman say: 'O, please, for God's sake let me go!'"

"I turned to get a wrap then, and when I got back to the window the taxi cab was gone. I saw two women in fur coats cross the street and walk away, but there were no more outcries."

Woman Tells of Death List.

The ugly menace of a widespread racial war in the Nineteenth ward was revealed in a death threat delivered to Dr. P. D. Agriostathes, 748 Blue Island avenue. An old woman with a shawl over her head entered the physician's pharmacy.

"I have seen the death list, doctor," she told him excitedly. "Your name is on it! You are marked for death!"

The doctor told the police that any attempt to carry out designs against his life, or the life of any Greek in the ward, meant racial warfare.

POLICE TAKE 4 IN GUN BATTLE; HELD ASSSLAYERS

Four men captured yesterday after a gun battle at 1718 South Morgan street are being held as the murderers of Alex Wittort, a saloonman at 2767 South Morgan street, who was slain Tuesday in a holdup. All the men have been identified, the police say. They are Frank and Joseph Regal and Charles Schadinger of 1718 South Morgan street and Emil Maszek, 1809 Plisk street.

The men were trailed to the Morgan street address by Capt. Patrick Gally and Detective Sergeants Smale, Mitchell, and Hall. Mitchell went to the rear of the house, and when he tried to enter, was greeted with a fusillade of shots. Capt. Gally and the others then broke through the front door and arrested the quartet.

Wittort was shot at Thirty-seventh and South Morgan streets by four men in an automobile. The police say they found the car, bearing the same number as that reported in the South Morgan street house.

NEGROES BUY LOT FOR EVANSTON COMMUNITY HOME

Plans for the building of a Negro community store, office, and lodge hall in Evanston were made known yesterday when twenty-two colored men, led by Forest E. White, a colored barber, and William H. Gill acquired title to a fifty foot lot on Emmerson street between Asbury and Railroad avenues. A similar movement was started last week in Lake Forest.

The Negroes plan to build a three story building. The first floor will be used for stores, the second for offices for professional men, and the third will be used as a lodge hall.

Each member of the organization contributed $100. Gill, who is a constable, a real estate dealer, owner of a laundry, a taxicab company, a newspaper, and is an editor and a preacher, said the Negroes expect to begin construction at once.

Finds Gasoline Bargain; Now He Is Out $2,300

Philip Grosshart, owner of a garage at 310 West Twenty-fourth place, was offered $2,700 worth of gasoline for $2,300. He decided to "take a chance."

"It was a poor hunch," he testified yesterday in Judge Williams' court, where the Sinclair Oil company is suing the Newman Trucking company. "I was swindled out of every cent."

Grosshart is one of numerous Chicagoans alleged to have been swindled by Henry B. Sewell, "oil expert," for whom a country-wide search is being made.

SAY WIFE HIRED THEM FOR $500 TO KILL HUSBAND

Woman in Case Taken for Probe of Sanity.

Unlike Carl Wandepfer's "ragged stranger," Mrs. Albert Dittman's "poor boob" balked, according to the story he related to the police.

And so there was no holdup and murder yesterday in the home of Mrs. Dittman, at 3238 Cleveland avenue. Mrs. Dittman was arrested. She will be taken to the Psychopathic hospital this morning for investigation of her sanity.

Stephen Worona of the Arlington hotel pictured himself as the "poor boob." He told the police Mrs. Dittman offered him $500 to kill her husband, a student at Lewis institute.

Daughter of Wealthy Farmer.

Mrs. Dittman, 34 years old, is said to be the daughter of a wealthy farmer in Belvidere, Ill. Her husband's father is said to be a wealthy downstate farmer.

To Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes Mrs. Dittman told several stories. She said she "was merely making an experiment with men to find out if there was any one in the world who would kill a man for money."

"I didn't intend to let the men carry out the plan," she said. "I would have had him arrested. I love my husband. I wanted him to have a good education. I wanted him to be a big man in the world—the idea of my having wanted him killed is all foolishness."

"Poor Boob's" Story.

"I have been out of a job," Worona said. "So when Dan Sarchik said he knew where I could make some money I was interested. He told me a woman had accosted him on the street, and told him she was a secret service operative and offered him $500 to kill a man."

"He refused, but I said I'd talk to her."

"She told me she wanted to take him to Washington dead, because he had killed his wife and two babies there. I said I wouldn't kill a man for a million bucks, but I started to think I might get a piece of change out of it and tell the cops, too, so I asked her for the money."

$100 on Account.

"She said she would give me $100 this morning if I met her, and I was to go into the house, pretend to be a robber, choke the man, and pick up the remaining $400 on the way out. She said she would put it in an envelope in the hall."

"I told the detectives about it, and we went out this morning and arrested her."

Mrs. Dittman denied the charges. She said she was moving and the men were going to help her. Later she said she was an artist, and had engaged a man to pose for her. Her husband stands by her, declaring he does not believe a word of the "poor boob's" story.

CLUB SANDWICH QUIZ TELLS WHY SOME GO HUNGRY

Two "50 cent" club sandwiches, one containing 3 ounces and the other 4½ ounces of meat filling, were purchased in loop restaurants yesterday by investigators for the council committee on high costs.

"The sandwich purchased at the Briggs house, 138 West Randolph street, cost 50 cents, contained 4½ ounces of meat filling, 2½ ounces of chicken, with one leaf of lettuce," Russell J. Poole, secretary of the committee, reported to Ald. Max Adamowski, the chairman.

"At Rubel's, in the Palmer house block, our investigators purchased a club sandwich of the old fashioned two story variety for 50 cents, containing 3 ounces of chicken, 2½ ounces of bacon, in addition to mayonnaise dressing, head lettuce, two queen olives, and three pickles."

Mr. Poole announced the Apollo luncheon, 186 West Madison street, has consented to cut "practically" every item on its bill of fare "from 5 to 10 cents."

PRICE OF FLOPS DROPS; BEDS NOW COST 10 TO 25 CTS.

The high cost of flops, which during wartime prospered reached 35 and even 50 cents, is down to 25 and 15 cents, and at one lodging house, David Lipsey's, 16 South Desplaines street, a thin dime will pay for a night's hospitality.

"I can see the nickel flop of antebellum days appearing on the hobo horizon," said Dr. Ben L. Reitman, medical director of Hobo college, 133 South Green street, yesterday.

"The best flops where a man has room to take off his shirt are down to 25 cents, and if the guest is willing to go out in the corridor for room in which to get out of his shirt he need pay only 15 cents. Prohibition and the approach of spring will send the prices even lower, in my opinion."

OLD CUSTOM TO BE REVIVED AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., March 10.—[Special.]—Egg rolling on the grounds back of the White House, a custom of many years, interrupted during the Wilson administration, when the gates were closed to the public, will be resumed this Easter Monday, March 28, it became known today.

YANK VANGUARD TO NEW ARMIES OF OCCUPATION

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

DUSSELDORF, March 10.—The first entente forces of occupation in Dusseldorf were American. At 1 o'clock in the morning of March 8 the American army of occupation swung down from the Cologne-Berlin train, threw his ditty bag over his shoulder, and asked his way to the best hotel.

He was Corporal Caryl Coter McGill, a former Detroit newspaper man and now the city editor of the army newspaper known as the Amarc News.

After capturing the town with the aid of a riding crop and a bar of chocolate, "Mac" proceeded up the main drag, followed by a large crowd of Dusseldorfs, who gazed with admiration at the ribbons on his blouse and his riding crop.

At 6 in the morning he bowed to sleepers and turned the town over to the French and Belgians. Whereupon he jumped into a husky automobile and proceeded to Duisburg and Ruhrort, where both towns turned out to welcome the American army of occupation.

Again it was found necessary to yield the honors to numbers, so he proceeded to Essen, where he was the first entente soldier in many years to appear upon the streets in uniform.

California S. O. to Sell $15,000,000 Stock to Aid

San Francisco, Cal., March 10.—Stockholders of the Standard Oil Company of California voted here today to issue $15,000,000 stock to be sold to employees, who will be assisted in paying by means of a bonus from the company.

The new issue will bring the total capitalization to $115,000,000. The stockholders also voted to reduce the par value of the company's stock from $100 to $25.

'TALL, DARK MAN' INTRODUCED IN STOKES DIVORCE

New York, March 10.—[Special.]—A mysterious "tall, dark man" entered the testimony today during the trial of the divorce suit brought by William E. D. Stokes, millionaire hotel owner, against Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes.

This new phase of testimony was introduced by Miss Anna Brennan, a maid. She saw the individual enter the bedroom of her mistress at 3 o'clock one morning when Stokes was at Lakewood, N. J., she said.

A lively tilt between counsel followed when Mr. Littleton objected to the witness describing the appearance of the bedroom after the guest had departed.

BALKAN ROYAL PAIR WED MID POMP IN ATHENS

LONDON, March 10.—The wedding of Princess Helene of Greece and Crown Prince Carol of Roumania took place today in the cathedral in Athens, according to a dispatch to the Central News from Athens. The cathedral was crowded with relatives of the bride and groom, members of the cabinet, diplomatic, civil representatives, and officers of the army and navy.

State carriages conveyed the bride and groom and their royal relatives and guests through decorated streets to the palace, where a brilliant reception was held.

CAPITAL ALERT AS PARIS TALKS TREATY TO U. S.

Wonders if Hinted Revision Is Genuine.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., March 10.—[Special.]—Dispatches from Paris stating that the French government has opened new negotiations to induce President Harding to favor a modified league of nations fulfilled expectations of the senate that the allied governments would launch a drive to get the United States into the Versailles treaty shortly after the inauguration of the Republican administration.

The exact nature of the French proposals is awaited with keen interest. If they provide merely for a devious method of getting the United States to ratify the Versailles treaty it is generally believed that they will promptly come to naught. If, however, they suggest a new scheme of international relations, founded upon the idea of a world court, it is considered likely that the administration would listen with friendly ears.

Officials Silent at Present.

Not a word of official information was forthcoming in Washington regarding the Paris dispatches. Secretary of State Hughes declined to discuss it in any manner. Last Tuesday Mr. Hughes had a long conference with M. Jusserand, the French ambassador, and the negotiations may have been opened at that time. It also has been known here for some time that Rene Viviani, former French premier, will visit Washington at an early date bringing with him authority to talk to the administration about international arrangements.

Whatever President Harding does about the matter, it is understood, will be done with the full knowledge of the senate foreign relations committee. Mr. Harding has given repeated assurances that he will send no new international pact to the senate until it receives guarantees that they will command the votes necessary to the ratification.

Paris Admits Negotiations.

PARIS, March 10.—[By the Associated Press.]—It was stated at the foreign office today that negotiations were under way between the French embassy in Washington and the state department in an effort to induce President Harding to favor acceptance of a modified league of nations.

The French position is conciliatory, and is believed to relate to expressions by officials connected with the present Washington administration made during the peace conference.

Home-Made Candies

Always sold from baskets with colored ribbon bows tied on the handles.

Fresh Today!

And every day—coming direct from my spotless kitchens to my two shops. Ten months ago other candy makers laughed and said that no one could make better candy than they. But today people say that I have given candy a toothsome taste no one else can equal. I have shown them a revelation in candy making. Everyone of the thirty odd pieces of candy that you find displayed in the candy ribboned baskets on my counters has won its place there through popular insistence for its particular flavor. You won't find that any one kind is better than another—they are equally good.

I proclaim to all that this is the very best candy in the land. Drop in today and try a pound or two—I'll show you what real home made candy should taste like. It's all

HAYS HAS HEART FOR POSTOFFICE BURDEN BEARERS

This is the third of a series of pen sketches of the members of President Harding's cabinet. Tomorrow Eye Witness will discuss Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

BY EYE WITNESS.
THE YOUNGEST MEMBER OF THE CABINET.

Washington, D. C., March 10.—[Special.]—This is an article about an unconditioned surrender.

The writer of it is the vanquished and the new postmaster general of the United States is the victor.

Somehow the writer had the notion he was not going to enjoy the promised talk with Mr. Hays. The notion was grounded in one of those long distance prejudices which are often the longest lived and always the meanest kind.

Observing Will Harrison Hays at conventions and in public committee hearings he had seemed always a shade thing. He had struck me as one of those somewhat wearing Olet-us-beautiful political revivalists, dealing in hand-me-down enthusiasms and with moreunction than sincerity in him.

His smile seemed too good to be true. His busy mortician thought I was helpful to order, or the cheery, officious miller putting his heart into his work.

Briefly, a shade sanctimonious, and his chief proficiency the knack to capitalize party buncombe.

Wins in Forty Minutes.
Within two minutes after I had seen his lean, tired, young-old visage he had brushed all that away and at the end of forty minutes when he bowed me out, my thought was, "There's a man, if I were younger, I'd like to go to work for."

Often during his talk senators and departmental chiefs asked him things over the phone, and once a subordinate of the old regime came in with a check for some such eloquent piece of paper—for $1,750,000 for him to sign, and of it he said, "I have an idea I'd like to know about that," and then he listened to the swift-speaking subordinate for two intent minutes.

But such things never collided with Cereal Meal Makes Life Worth Living to Constipation Sufferers.

An Ideal Health Food Working With and Not Against Nature.

Drugs Force Nature and Are Detrimental to General Health.

Try One Package—Costs Nothing Unless Satisfactory in Every Way.

No doubt every one of the sixty million constipation sufferers realized long ago that drugs only aggravated their condition. But, what could they do?

"Boston, Mass., Feb. 24, 1921.
Am 73 years old. In the early winter of 1920 I was taken ill—blood pressure—lost use of right side—was in bed 60 days; did not come to my business until May, 1920. While I was on my back took a Sedlitz powder every morning. When I got up I was given a mineral water every other day. About a month ago my niece—a young woman who has suffered much with constipation—recommended your Cereal Meal. On mentioning it to my physician, to my surprise, he was very enthusiastic and told me of several old and young, among his patients, who were using it. I am very pleased with the way it has acted on me—no more constipation. (mineral water). A. F. R., Parker House."

Hundreds and hundreds of letters similar to the above are received telling of the wonderful results that come from eating Cereal Meal, the Ideal Health Food.

Purchase a package of Cereal Meal TODAY, eat for breakfast, allowing it to replace the cereal you are accustomed to eating—then throw away your box of pills and bottle of laxative and forget that you were ever constipated.

Cereal Meal contains no drug. It is a "physic" in no sense—just supplies some elements now missing in the food you are eating. Nature does the rest. It is those "missing elements" that cause constipation.

Cereal Meal brings normal, free, healthy movements like nature intended—not the disagreeable, painful movements FORCED by drugs. Cereal Meal BUILDS UP—drugs TEAR DOWN.

Purchase one package of Cereal Meal and experience the sensation of being free from constipation. If it fails you in any particular, the price paid for one package will be refunded without argument.

Headaches, indigestion, hemorrhoids, fermentation, sallow complexion, biliousness, acid stomach and much nervousness usually are secondary to constipation. Properly relieve constipation by eating Cereal Meal—using no drugs at all for this purpose—and, in the vast majority of cases, these conditions will quickly disappear.

If you reside in Chicago, purchase a package of Cereal Meal TODAY, by calling or telephoning Sargent's Drug Store, 23 N. Wabash Ave.

If you reside out of Chicago and your druggist does not sell Cereal Meal, write direct to the manufacturer, The American Health Food Corporation, 1438-B Tremont St., Denver, Colo., for prices and free booklet on constipation by return mail.

Hays the Humanist

New Postmaster General Promises Considerate Treatment of Employees.

WILL H. HAYS.

his main theme, which was government and the human heart.

His words were clean cut, his hand emphatic on the arm of his chair, his gaze direct and steadfast, his heart full of zest for his new tasks, and his grip at parting like a pledge of service.

He looked tired, but he did not seem tired. He did not talk much about himself except as his self bore on the new work. I found him candid. To be sure I had the advantage of going to see him along with a man he thoroughly likes and trusts and perhaps that was a great advantage.

Doesn't Like the "General."
For a reason that has no basis in the correct use of the word "general" when joined onto the word "postmaster" it is the custom in Washington to call the postmaster general by the title of general.

"Hello, general," said one of Hays' intimates to him an hour after he had been sworn in.

"What do you mean by that 'general'?" he asked.

"O, it's a custom," said his friend. "I don't like it," said Hays. "There are many things he doesn't like about the national postoffice department as he confronts it in these opening days of his new service."

"Why, Eye," he said (he has that flattering way of weaving one's name in with what he is saying), "why, Eye, they run 'em in like sheep and out like cattle."

"I tell you, Eye, successful business is head and hand impelled by heart, and in this colossal business, with its 300,000 employees and its two and a half billion packages annually—billion, Eye—and its largest savings bank in the world—the heart has broken down. I don't know why. But I'm going to find out."

His Idea of Employer Ethics.
Employees? He does not regard them as employees. He said this about them: "They should not be considered as automatons but as partners in a great public service. Some men—some men in this government—still talk of labor as a commodity. That idea dropped dead 1,921 years ago this coming Easter. It took the Supreme court of the United States longer to get around to confirming the death, but it has done it. To humanize business has been new work. I found him candid. To be sure I had the advantage of going to men in this generation of ours. Rest rooms, restaurants, baths, emergency hospitals, libraries, and benefits and bonuses for employees—you know—all that kind of thing. But they have not humanized the postoffice, which is the largest single business in the country."

"Respect the burden," said Napoleon one day when he saw a servant carrying a heavy parcel through the Tuilleries, and with that the emperor stood to one side while the man passed.

The P. O. Burden Bearers.
Well, it was mostly about the burden bearers that the postmaster general talked.

"As postmaster general," he said, "my ambition will be to establish a real relation with the men who work and sweat. The 300,000 strong personnel of this department is a wonderful personnel to work with—the women who are part of the time school teachers—the young fellows that are to be lawyers, and so on through the list. It's a department that has head and hand, but somewhere, somehow, it's lost heart. It's going to get back heart, and I know what the result will be. They won't throw that piece of mail at the door. They'll put it in the box. It's a chance which they do now. I went to lunch today in the department restaurant. A fine crowd and I met many of them. A man said to me, 'Why, at this rate you'll soon know the whole three hundred thousand'."

He was speaking of the method of handling the 300,000 employees of the postoffice and their wants and grievances and ambitions.

On Political Appointments.
He talked of appointments and methods of appointment and of gradations. Some of the latter and the last he is going to change radically.

While he was on the subject came this bit of pith: "Every congressman who appoints a postmaster makes one ingrate and eleven enemies."

He means to take lessons from the great mail order houses.

He is going into local fields to study local conditions. When he arrives there he won't go in and lock the door and sit down with the postmaster, but get out in the building and ask questions all round.

There was no financial gain to Hays in accepting this cabinet position. Rather it means a money loss that few men would face with equanimity.

What He Hopes to Do.
Concerning what he hopes to accomplish he spoke thus:

"The statesman said there should be a great and solemn referendum. There was. The Republicans say it was great. The Democrats say it was solemn. Anyway, the majority was what I call satisfactory, and now I say that performance has got to measure up to it."

After I was out I said to a wise man. "I think he'll make this department hum."

"He makes everything he touches hum," said the wise man. "I wonder who his press agent is."

"I'm used, for I knew Hays likes publicity and knows its value."

"I'll tell you who his press agent is," said the wise man. "Yes! Who?"

"He is."

SELECT JURORS ON FIRST DAY OF HAMON TRIAL

All Will Visit the Scene of Shooting Today.

Ardmore, Okla., March 10.—Such a marked first day of the trial of Clara Barton Smith, accused of killing Jake L. Hamon, Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, that the jury was selected today and the defense predicted the end of the trial by Saturday afternoon.

Interest centered tonight on the question which Attorney General Freeling, as prosecutor, refused to discuss, whether he would introduce a death bed statement by Hamon. Such a statement, under the state law, would have the same status as that given from the witness stand.

The state and defense conferred tonight about limiting evidence to events after 1913, but failed to agree.

Jury Selection Is Speedy.

Opening at 9:15 this morning, with few spectators in the courtroom, the trial speeded on so that by 5 o'clock in the afternoon forty-nine veniremen had been questioned and the jury selected.

During all this time Clara Smith sat at a table, beside her counsel. She was pale but calm and took notes. She watched the selection of the twelve men, who may, according to one version discussed here, determine whether she fired the shot which resulted in the death of Hamon or whether the automatic pistol she held in her hand was discharged when Hamon tried to hit her with a chair.

Interest in the case seemed slight at the morning session and it was not until after the noon recess that spectators filled the courtroom.

Mrs. Hamon Enters.

At 3 o'clock Mrs. Jake L. Hamon, wife of the slain man, and her daughter, Olive Bell, and her father entered the courtroom. Mrs. Hamon took a seat at a table, so she was less than a yard away from Clara Smith. The two women glanced at each other, but there was no sign of recognition.

At the request of Mr. Freeling and with the consent of the defense Clara Smith, the counsel on both sides, and the jury will go at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to the Hotel Handel. There they will visit rooms 25 and 29, those in which Jake L. Hamon, oil millionaire, and Clara Smith lived.

There were rumors after the close of the day's session that the state will try to show that when shot Hamon was lying on his bed, and there is no proof that there was any struggle. Mr. Freeling would not comment on this.

The details of the defense to be used were hinted by questions to veniremen, who were asked if they understood the law that a person legally could kill in self-defense.

Hints at Death Penalty.

At 3:30 tomorrow morning the jury will be in court to hear the opening speech of the prosecution.

There again the only insight into what that will be was given when the attorney general asked a venireman whether he was prejudiced against the infliction of capital punishment and whether the fact that the defendant was a woman would influence him in reaching a verdict.

The jury is composed of one unmarried man, one married man with no children, and ten with families ranging from one to ten children. The jurors' ages vary from 33 to 73.

BRITISH PREMIER DEFENDS STAND ON REPARATIONS

Replies to Dual Attack in Commons.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 10.—Prime Minister Lloyd George tonight defended his policies with regard to Germany in the house of commons at the end of a session notable for a double barreled attack upon him.

Lord Robert Cecil challenged the prime minister's foreign policies in general, declaring that by taking foreign negotiations into his own hands Mr. Lloyd George largely was responsible for the "lack of continuity" in Great Britain's foreign policy.

More sensational, however, was the declaration of John R. Clynes, labor leader, that the allied supreme council had acted precipitately in refusing Germany time in which to make a new reparations offer.

Mr. Clynes accused the premier of a vacillating policy in this regard in that he had declared previously that reparations were possible only by restoring Germany economically and then had agreed to military coercion, which, he said, could lead only to "greater unemployment, greater debt, and greater taxation."

At the beginning of his address in reply Mr. Lloyd George characterized Mr. Clynes' speech as "calculated to assist Germany" and "a direct incentive and encouragement" to that nation.

In defense of his German policies the prime minister declared that Berlin's first counter proposals offered "an insult to common sense."

"There was only one way to make Germany pay," he declared, "and this way was crystallized in the British government's proposals and the council's decision."

"I am confident that under the sanctions Germany successfully will solve her problems."

MAN WHO KILLED HUSBAND IN ROW OVER WIFE GUILTY

A jury in Judge Martin M. Gridley's court found John A. Burns, 27 years old, guilty of manslaughter yesterday. Burns was tried for the murder of Harry R. Scofield, 3223 Warren avenue, who was stabbed to death with a pocket knife. The slaying followed a quarrel when Scofield saw Burns and two others escort his wife home at an early morning hour after a tour of west side cabarets.

The occupation last night of Hamburg and today of Oberhausen by French and Belgian troops has led Duesseidorf to believe that the entire Ruhr basin will be penetrated.

German newspapers assert there is every indication that Essen will be occupied within forty-eight hours.

Allies "Digging In."

The allies now are consolidating their positions and taking military precautions against possible surprise attacks. Cavalry outposts have been thrown far east of the Rhine.

The Germans claim that the French are digging trenches around Duesseidorf, but the only defense works I have observed are earthworks protecting machine gun posts commanding the main streets and the railways.

At midnight last night little knots of citizens stood in the main streets of Duesseidorf discussing the situation. The French wanted the streets cleared and asked German police to disperse the groups.

On the approach of an allied officer the German police would start pushing aside the crowd, which would sink away.

BERLIN, March 10.—The opposite to every one's expectation has happened. Instead of a government crisis as the result of the London conference, the German government is stronger than ever, with even the bolshevik elements supporting it.

Today a vote of trust accorded Dr. Walter Simons unanimously by the cabinet shows the strength of the German foreign minister.

Today there is talk of a political offensive among the neutral nations and two former supporters of the entente—America and Italy. Such an attempt would arouse both sympathy and protests, but it is believed it also would achieve results, inasmuch as the press already is filled with dispatches from foreign countries upholding Germany's contentions.

Official circles regret that American-German peace cannot be rushed through, inasmuch as it would open the road for a flood of appeals for American intervention. The action of Hamburg citizens who telegraphed President Harding for "immediate and just intervention against the destruction and enslavement of our nation," while unofficial and isolated, really is a foretaste of what would follow a hundredfold if peace were declared.

Meanwhile the labor unions and the communists are planning to make international appeals.

HOUSTON PLAN OF PAYING DEBT MEANS TAX LOAD

Other Methods Urged by Experts.

ARTICLE NO. 4.

Washington, D. C., March 10.—[Special]—Abandonment of attempts to wipe out the floating debt of the government by payments from current revenues will be the simplest way to insure a reduction in the aggregate tax burden.

Republican leaders in congress are agreed that too heavy a load on taxpayers would be caused by continuing former Secretary of the Treasury Houston's policy of applying about $1,000,000,000 a year toward the reduction of the floating debt, which on March 1 amounted to $2,484,022,000.

With revenues aggregating $5,350,000,000 in prospect during the fiscal year 1922 on the basis of present laws and with expenditures of approximately $4,000,000,000 in prospect, it would appear to be possible to repeal the excess profits tax and other objectionable taxes representing total revenue of $1,000,000,000 without burdening additional taxes, if no attempt were to be made to keep $1,000,000,000 of surplus revenues available toward the reduction of the floating debt.

Vast Sum Is Available

It has been estimated by the treasury that the surplus available during the present fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, which will be applied toward the reduction of the floating debt, will amount to $885,000,000. Even before reductions were made in appropriations the treasury estimated that at least $962,000,000 would be available for this purpose during the fiscal year 1922 on the basis of present laws.

If Mr. Houston's policies were followed, it thus would be possible by July 1, 1922, to reduce the floating debt so that not much more than $500,000,000 in treasury tax and loan certificates would remain. This floating debt would be entirely wiped out by Jan. 1, 1923, when the government will be confronted with the necessity of gigantic refunding operations involving the maturing funded debt.

Houston's Liberty Loan Policy.

Under the Houston program the Victory loan would be reduced by July 1, 1922, by at least $500,000,000 as a result of the 2 1/2 per cent sinking fund which law provides a permanent annual appropriation of approximately $250,000,000 for the retirement of the funded debt. The sinking fund operations, which were begun on July 1, 1920, would reduce the Victory loan, which now totals $4,150,000,000, to somewhat less than $3,750,000,000 by that date.

By the time the Victory notes mature in May, 1923, it was anticipated by the treasury experts that the total could be reduced to about $3,000,000,000. This would be done through further sinking fund operations, and also by making provision for the acceptance of Victory notes during the fiscal year 1923 before maturity in payment of taxes.

War savings securities maturing Jan.

1, 1923, and totaling less than $800,000,000 would be taken care of under the Houston program by new issues of war savings certificates.

Would Need a Refund.

Under the Houston program the floating debt of $2,500,000,000 would be entirely wiped out and Victory notes to the extent of $1,250,000,000 would be retired by May, 1923, when the funded war obligations begin to mature. Even this program would contemplate the refunding of $3,000,000,000 Victory notes over a longer period in May, 1923. The four Liberty loans, aggregating $15,282,198,100 and maturing at intervals during the subsequent twenty-four years, would still be outstanding.

Congress must consider whether the floating debt should be funded into long term obligations or whether the policy of retiring the treasury certificates out of current revenue, but more gradually than at present contemplated, should be continued.

The Republicans who agree that the present policy of reducing the floating debt by $1,000,000,000 a year out of current revenues should be abandoned are not a unit on the proposition of refunding the floating debt into long term securities. Those who favor refunding the floating debt into long term securities argue that the debt was created in exactly the same manner as was that represented by funded obligations, and that there is no reason why the two should be kept separate.

Those objecting to this policy hold that as a matter of business practice the floating debt should be cared for from current revenues, and that any other policy would tend to destroy the credit of the government.

Fear for Nation's Credit.

Those who object to the funding of the floating debt favor applying possibly from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 annually, or even less, toward the reduction of the floating debt from current revenues. The floating debt would be carried along by the issuance of the treasury certificates with maturities of six months or one year at regular intervals.

Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee inclines toward the view that the floating debt should be consolidated with the funded debt. Representative Longworth, another Republican member of the ways and means committee, takes the view that the floating debt should be paid from taxation, but gradually.

New York, March 10.—[Special.]—The $466,000 in Liberty bonds stolen in November last by three bandits in the holdup in Brooklyn of two messengers employed by Kean, Taylor & Co. bankers, of 5 Nassau street, today led to the arraignment of eight men. The men were held as witnesses in the disposal of $50,000 of the stolen bonds.

Still another man, who was alleged to have acted as a "go-between" for the holdup men and a band of men who undertook to dispose of the loot, was arrested tonight. He is the twenty-second to be taken into custody. At least fifteen other arrests are expected. It also developed that detectives have established the connection of members of the "Nicky" Arnstein band in Washington with the attempt to dispose of some of the stolen Liberty bonds in that city. Just what their role was could not be learned.

Trail Leads to Washington. The connection of members of the Arnstein band with the attempt to dispose of the stolen Kean, Taylor & Co. bonds, it was said, was developed through the questioning of Peter Duffy, now a prisoner in Washington. Duffy was a New York taxi driver and with another chauffeur named Bernstein visited Memphis, Tenn., at about the time over $300,000 of the stolen Kean, Taylor & Co. bonds were sold by brokers in that city to a Memphis bank, and later sent by the bank to the Chicago office of another brokerage firm.

Recover $75,000 of Loot. The detective tonight discovered $75,000 worth of the stolen bonds in a safe deposit box, which, according to the police, had been rented by August Chardant, head waiter at the Commodore hotel, who was one of the men released. Chardant, the police said, told them, said the bonds were given to him by Nathaniel H. Wheeler, a broker, who is also being held. District Attorney Lewis of Kings county tonight said he was convinced that Chardant did not know the bonds were stolen.

Telegrams that have fallen into the hands of the police show a direct connection between certain brokers and bankers in Memphis and other cities, said "go-betweens" for holdup men and other criminals in New York.

lugs Moonshiner Husband to Make Him Model Man

George Donovan, 2619 Park avenue, was the victim yesterday of his wife's suit for a model husband. He was visited on Mrs. Donovan's assertion, alleged a still in their home. Commissioner Mason held him to the federal grand jury on bonds of $1,000, "said him," said Mrs. Donovan. "I want him to be a good man, but he's not."

DELAYS ACTION UPON TREATY WITH COLOMBIA

Washington, D. C., March 10.—[Special.]—The administration forces in the senate today abandoned their effort to get the Colombian treaty ratified at the present session and entered an agreement to defer action until eight days after the next session begins.

When Republican leaders were about to call up the Colombian treaty in compliance with President Harding's desires they found themselves facing defeat at the hands of the coalition of insurgent Republicans and Democrats who are unwilling to consider the pact at this time.

Opponents of the treaty readily agreed to the fixing of a voting time. They have taken polls showing twenty-one or twenty-two Republicans and at least three Democrats opposed to the treaty, with a number of Republicans wavering between loyalty to the new administration and unwillingness to support the Colombian pact, which they so vigorously denounced during the Wilson regime. Opposition leaders are confident they can win enough converts during the next month to beat the treaty. They must have thirty-three votes to be able to reject the treaty.

PANAMA APPEAL TO LEAGUE GIVES U. S. A PROBLEM

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Refusal of Panama to accept the White territorial award as a basis of peace with Costa Rica and appeal by Panama to the league of nations for settlement of the dispute is expected by some officials to place before the American government the probable necessity of defining its attitude toward the jurisdiction of the league of nations in disputes on the American continent.

BANK OF KINDNESS

Draw a Check on It for the Unfortunate.

BY REV. G. A. MACWHORTER. The philanthropic committee of the Edgemere Woman's club, of which Laura E. Dean is chairman, will entertain at cards next Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Woman's League club, 109 North Dearborn street. The entire proceeds will be expended for charity. Bridge and "500" will be the games of the afternoon. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

Typhus is being fought today by the American Red Cross in one of its original strongholds, Poland. Five hospital trains consisting of ten cars each are proving effective weapons against the epidemic which is reaping a toll of thousands of lives.

A young woman who has never known of a home of her own, other than the kindly care of generous people in an institution that looks after homeless children, has given the Rev. Dr. W. C. Overt, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, a certified check for $50 for the Armenian relief fund [near east].

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Much colder weather within the next several days over the northern states from the great lakes westward to the Rocky mountains is indicated by an abnormally high pressure over Alaska and the far northwest.

SCHWILL FREED IN STOLEN MONEY ORDER INQUIRY

New York, March 10.—Julius Schwill, wealthy malt manufacturer of Chicago, detained by the police on suspicion after money orders stolen from the American Express company were alleged to have been found in his possession, was discharged in Tombs court today by Magistrate Frothingham, who said felonious intent was not established.

Schwill reiterated that he bought the money orders from Casper Staub, a Chicago stamp dealer, adding that he had known Staub ten years and had no reason to doubt the securities were not good. He explained that he gave the name of Miller when arrested because he "got scared."

He had been drinking all evening, he said, and told the first "story" about the checks that came into his mind—that he procured them at the Chicago office of the American Express company.

Schwill asserted on cross examination that his income was not sufficient to keep him from debt. He admitted he had not given his real name at various hotels where he cashed the money orders, nor had he questioned Staub upon receiving them.

Cries of Newsboys Not Nuisance, but Benefaction

New York, March 10.—[Special.]—The newsboy's cry of "wuxtry" cannot be classified as a nuisance. Magistrate McQuade made this ruling today in the case of Irving Slown. He was charged with "making an unusual and improper noise, to the inconvenience of pedestrians." Magistrate McQuade asserted that newsboys were a public benefit instead of a nuisance.

HAMAN'S GALLOWES FOR LANDLORDS.

Work has been begun on a seventy-one flat building at Sheridan road and Greenleaf avenue. The builders are doing what the legislators cannot do. They are providing new roofs for Chicago homes. Laws regulating rents will not increase the number of places to rent.

The building trades unions, the building material men, and the people with money to invest in building have the housing question in their hands, and when they are co-operating to produce more houses the profiteering landlord will disappear.

If the legislature by an investigation could discover a conspiracy to restrict building, to boost prices, and make construction prohibitively expensive it might, by putting a stop to these practices, release the needed activity, but it cannot promote building by putting property under more restrictions.

Renters have been so imposed upon that they want direct action against their apparent enemies, the landlords, who have acted in many cases without reason and in some without conscience. Many of them have taken an unscrupulous advantage of the situation. If Haman's gallowes could be built for them it would satisfy their victims, but it would not induce other men to put their money into flat buildings.

The control of public utilities rests upon two assumptions. One is that the utility has a monopoly and must be regulated. The other is that the community itself will give the service if it is not given by private capital. If private capital does not run street cars the city will. If private capital does not furnish gas and electric light the city will.

The city must provide these services if private capital does not, and a city takes its choice of conducting a privately conducted enterprise or of conducting a publicly conducted enterprise.

If rented properties are to be recognized as public utilities and regulated, does the city accept the second assumption? Does it, or the state, intend to supply the lack of private enterprise? Will the community build houses if private individuals will not?

As the result of abnormal events there is an abnormal situation. Natural forces temporarily are checked and unnatural conditions temporarily prevail. The conduct of the landlords ought to have given building its greatest stimulus. A building investment, if viewed simply in the light of demand, would be highly desirable. In view of the extortionate rentals even a fair rental would represent a very attractive return and if conditions were normal a great deal of money would be going into building.

There is the further abnormality that the building trades are unemployed and need work. Material men profess to be trying to stimulate the market. There is a pressure for the product on one side and a pressure for the product on the other. A situation so controlled by artificial and contradictory elements cannot long withstand its naturally controlling factors. They will gain the upper hand because they are stronger than the obstacles.

In the meanwhile there is distress. Renters are victimized. Landlords are extortionate and the legislature will be asked to make some dangerous excursions against the theory of property rights. The unnatural conditions which produce the emergency will disappear, but the laws the state sets, if it attempts to adopt new doctrines, probably will not. Even if they were repealed they would remain in the procedure to which the state had committed itself. That would be an amendment of American history.

The question is not what the state immediately might obtain from legislation regulating property offered for rent but what it ultimately would obtain. Citizens with money to invest are probably the least concerned. They always could turn to some other form of investment. The people the most concerned are the renters who, until the state says it will build houses, are the ones dependent upon money invested in buildings.

When the state says that it will build houses we have seen the end of all its essentials. Until it says that, the citizen depends upon private money put in buildings.

We know that in normal times there is no rent problem. Building progresses. People seek what they want and move as they can better themselves. There are always opportunities and a gouging landlord would have no tenants.

These abnormal times cannot remain, but a law may, and it may create a legal abnormality quite as bad for the people in general as the present economic abnormality.

We fear that we cannot escape this present confusion with its inequities and injustices by a short cut through the legislature. We can build Haman's gallowes for the landlord, but we do not know what else we shall find has been hung there.

OUR CASH, WHOSE CONCESSIONS?

Opposition to the plan to pay Colombia $25,000,000 having appeared in considerable strength, the suggestion has now been made that the plan be put aside and a new commercial treaty be negotiated to protect American owned oil concessions in Colombia.

Is this the colored party in the woodpile? The Colombia plan, which showed such remarkable vitality, having more lives than any legislative scheme in captivity, now seems to show in clearer outlines. We, an altruistic people, were to pay $25,000,000 of our money to purchase the good will of Latin America and a few oil concessions in Colombia. We are to enjoy the good will, but who is to get the concessions?

In a matter concerning oil there ought to be less smoke and more light.

LET US HAVE PEACE IN THE PACKING INDUSTRY.

Intervention of the president on behalf of a peaceful settlement of the wage controversy in the packing industry ought not to be necessary. The occasions upon which the chief executive may properly be asked to turn from the heavy exactions of his office are few and this is hardly one of them. The threat of a coal famine or a great transportation tieup may justify such an appeal, but not every controversy in a great industry, serious though it may be.

A strike in the packing industry undoubtedly would be serious, a misfortune of widespread consequence. But though the president may not intervene, the representatives of the companies and the leaders of labor ought to be able to get together in fair minded conference and work out a solution. Mr. Lane has said he would arbitrate wages, but not the eight hour day. Strong as the reasoning supporting the principle of the eight hour day is, it does not foreclose exceptions, and Mr. Lane's position would be stronger if his offer to arbitrate were without reservations. When either side begins with reservations it is difficult and sometimes impossible to arbitrate. All factors of the wage problem should be brought into consideration. The public will expect both sides to make a sincere effort at peaceful and just settlement. It is probable that a wage reduction is justifiable in existing circumstances, the penalties for overtime, especially if they compel payment for time in which no work is done, may very well require change. It may be that packing house products are sold at too low a rate to support an adequate wage scale; it may be a proper return on investment is not possible under present conditions, and that either operation costs must be cut or prices raised. Whatever the factors of the situation, they should be subjected to rational consideration and the conflicting interests compromised and adjusted for the common good.

There is, we believe, a disposition on the part of the public to be fair to both sides. There is a recognition of the efficiency of the packing industry and the economies it is able to accomplish for the benefit of the consumer, but there is also a desire that men shall not be thrown out of employment or subjected to unfair conditions. The public is in no position to know what is fair, but it has a moral right to ask that both sides try their best to avoid a strike by getting together in good feeling. Readjustments doubtless are necessary. Let us have them without a foolish and wasteful struggle.

IT IS NOT JAPAN'S BET.

An agreement with Japan to limit naval building would not be worth the paper it is written on. This is said to have been urged an executive session in opposition to Senator Borah's resolution requesting the president to open negotiations for a naval holiday.

We are glad it did not prevail. It may be true in the narrow sense, but it need not be true in effect, and it should certainly not be decisive against the naval holiday plan. Agreements among nations are based on interests, and, as Washington warned us, they can be relied upon only so long as their foundations remain. The Japanese have a reputation with us for guile, but our course should not be founded on any theory of special virtue or special vice in any people. Japan will not keep an agreement which is contrary to its vital interests; neither will any other people.

An agreement with Japan, or with any other country, for naval limitation will be kept just so long as it is that country's vital interest to keep it. It will be Japan's interest to keep a naval agreement if Great Britain and the United States make such agreement in terms which affect Japan. That is, if Japan confronts the necessity of building against both Great Britain and the United States, we credit her with enough intelligence to believe she will not build.

It is suggested that she will prepare secretly. Against that possibility any agreement should provide for mutual inspection and free access to thorough inquiry among all three parties to the understanding. That seems a matter of detail. Espionage is not pleasant, but it exists and always has existed, and fair and open inspection, if agreed upon by all concerned, should not offend upon the susceptibilities of any of the three powers.

But the rock of our reliance upon the fair fulfillment by Japan of a naval agreement is an agreement not with her but with Great Britain. With Great Britain and the United States in agreement, Japan can neither afford to stay out nor to try to play false, being in.

As a matter of fact, the benefits derivable from Japan from a naval accord are substantial enough to attract any but the most bellicose of jingoes. The alternative to an agreement is a contest with us, and, if we make agreement with Great Britain, a contest with the British likewise. It is an alternative of bankruptcy.

Japanese naval policy depends upon Anglo-American naval policy.

COMMON SENSE AND THE GERMAN INDEMNITY

(From the London Spectator.)

We all want to make Germany pay, and it is absolutely just that she should pay up to the reasonable limit of her capacity; but with the exception of a few persons who have a passion for preferring the shadow to the substance, Englishmen do not want to make Germany pay in such a manner that the allies would be hit harder than Germany herself. There are several ways in which the allies might be badly hit by an unjust handling of the indemnity. It is not merely a question of a failure to garner the German tribute year by year. There is the much larger question of the quietude and, so far as it may be, the contentment of the whole world. Unless the people of all countries settle down with a will to reproduce the wealth which was dissipated by the war, there is no prospect of the allies being benefited by the German indemnity. Payments of the annual sum might be made with regularity, and yet owing to the crippled state of the markets and the general anxiety and discontent the allies would have lost more than they would have gained. As regards Germany herself, our policy should be to use every argument, financial or otherwise, in such a way that she will have no excuse to put into effect a militaristic government. The present German government is democratic in name, and, so far as we can judge, to a considerable extent also in action; it is most important to make it possible for such a government to survive, and also for it to be succeeded by a government of like complexion. We should never give German republicans a handle for saying, "You squeezed us so hard that we could not carry on. We became impotent, and we naturally fell a prey to our enemies, who were always prowling round waiting for their opportunity."

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

A PIANO MAN advertises: "In order to comply with our contract of 8 inches per week we are compelled to pay for this space whether we wish to use it or not." That, while so in advertising, gives us an idea; and an idea, when one is wrestling with bronchitis, is worth its weight in platinum. To wit:

"IN order to comply with our contract of a column a day with this great family newspaper, we are compelled to fill this space whether we feel like it or not."

It Must Have Been a Gub-nome.

Sir: My friend and I are interested in the efforts (whenever it is our rare privilege to hear them) of the proletariat to master our Mother Tongue. My friend, an avid follower of the Line, is presently sojourning in your neighborhood, and I wish to report for his benefit a specimen of Pierian Spring dabbled eavesdropped by me in a tonorial parlor. The "next" or "near-next," among those waiting along the wall, was telling how the efforts of a neighbor to raise chickens were being interfered with by some predecease marauder. "An 'yistid' mornin'," sez he, "when he went into the coop, there was six of his little chicks with their legs gub-norred off." Do you suppose a gub-nom could have done it? Starchily, not a gub-nom. Would you say some sort of gub-nome? But what bothers me most is how to spell "gub-nome," so that my friend, and your follower, may get the full flavor of it. There's a problem for you to gub-nush your teeth over.

WHAT if life should not a jigger of sentiment in it? If we had as large an estate as many of our friends have, we'd buy the dear old Rush street bridge and use it to span a duck pond.

OR, why does not the Glenview Country Club buy the bridge for the water jump at the eighteenth tee? It could be landscaped effectively.

BETWEEN THE DEVIL OF GRAMMAR AND THE DEEP SEA.

Sir: I have been waiting for someone to remind you of the "Tobinism" in the February issue of "Poetry." The poet from the bacteriology department of the Long Island Hospital writes:

"My fathers bones lie buried deep
In ribbed rock and shifting sea.
And yet my fathers vigil keep Above the sentence that is me."

A bold choice between rhyme and rules. M. B.

THE least excitement starts us dawning, and when we read Don Gallivier's statement, "From a military viewpoint the occupation does not appeal to me," we nearly dislocated a rib.

NOMEN ET FACTUM.

Dear Sir: Does not the fact that P. C. Tempest is General Manager of the S. E. and C. R. Steamship Line remind you of the wolf that became a shepherd?

THE Allies have sought to convey the idea that the Germans were the vanquished, but the idea penetrates slowly. Getting a joke into a Scotchman's head were not more painful.

THE THOUSAND AND ONE AFTERNOONS.

Mr. Le Moyne made a sign to the Doctor, who bowed and left us together (continued the barber). "Mr. Shagpat, I am about to die," said the stricken man, looking fixedly at me. Yet he seemed more at ease than the cackling cock that he had just been breathing with less effort, and the thin hand which had clutched the blankets now lay quiet at his side. This I took in mine and said to him, "Courage, my good sir! But he shook his head. 'I am a dead man,' he said. 'It is not a matter of courage. This is a second attack. I shall not take tomorrow's breakfast.' He again moved the pillow. 'I drew it forth. It was sealed but unsealed. There is an inclosure,' he explained. I understood and said, 'You wish me to take charge of this?' He moved his head in assent. His lips stirred but no sound issued. His breathing was troubled, and his fingers knotted in the coverlet. 'As I sat wait, I saw the wind in my hand, waiting for him to speak again. I felt the wind on my cheek, and I observed that the stateroom door, which had been closed, was open an inch or less. As I rose to close it again I heard the faint sound of disappearing footsteps, and vaguely I turned the key in the door and returned to Mr. Le Moyne. Definitely alarmed, I should say, for your honors to whom speech seems necessary. Mr. Le Moyne, too, was silent for a time, and lay staring upward. Presently his eyes returned to mine, and he said, 'I have a favor to ask a favor.' It is granted, I answered with a simplicity that assured him. He raised his head and looked at me. 'I have a favor to ask of you,' he said. 'I drew it forth. It was sealed but unsealed. There is an inclosure,' he explained. I understood and said, 'You wish me to take charge of this?' PREMONITION OF DAUGHTER MARKS TWO GAS DEATHS

Rich Widow, 80, and Kin
Victims of Tragedy.

Mrs. Emma Gulon of Cairo, Ill., had a premonition that "something was going to happen" to her 80 year old mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, rich widow living at 2020 West Sixty-ninth street.

The police had been called by Mrs. P. Flowers, whose window, next door, is on a level with the Thompson apartment, and who had seen the body of one woman on a couch and the other sitting upright in a chair. She and another neighbor, John O'Donnell, then had tried to obtain entrance to the Thompson apartment and had smelled gas.

Mrs. Gulon's letters to Annie, found in the apartment, read: "My heart goes out to you. I know just how you feel, and I want to come so bad, but I feel I could not stay long, and I have hopes mamma will get over this spell. It must be terrible. I knew something was wrong. I have not slept for several nights. I wake up thinking of you folks. We washed yesterday, and am trying to arrange things so in case anything should happen I could leave on a minute's notice. Mamma is never off my mind."

Guard Home Treasures.
A detail of policemen was sent to guard the home, as the widow is said to have had many mortgages and other securities in her possession.

BIG STILL IN ST. LOUIS CENTER.
St. Louis, Mo., March 10.—An illicit still, with a capacity of twenty-five gallons an hour, was confiscated by the police in a raid in the downtown section last night. Fifteen gallons of whiskey and 12,500 gallons of wash also were seized.

BUCKING HIM UP.
Camp Grant, March 9.—(Editor of the Tribune.)—"Ten Years a Hero" asks for answer. He shall have it from one who is trying at least to be a "hundred better."

His statements as those made by Sen. Thomas are, after all, a spur to the of us who believe in justice for the service man. It shows that there are those in our midst who are blind and remain in the high places. "Ten Years" will take time to read American history he will find that we always had Thomases, but because at no true American ever resolved to away his affection for his country. Every misanthrope at large there thousand patriots, and the wall of few morally deformed is lost in the loud shout of the many. "Ten Years" Join the Legion to your part to rid our country of the like. Don't alien yourself with R. R. SMITH.

RENTS AND REDS.
Chicago, March 9.—(Editor of the Tribune.)—In today's issue of THE TRIBUNE appears an article by A. S. Smith, an analysis, in which he states that legislation to limit profits from the property could be enforced, then led flag might as well be raised to the Stars and Stripes.

What is true, then we should have the Red flag on the capitol in distinction when congress enacted the act. Are the members of the interstate commerce commission and the members of our public utilities commission "Reds"? FRANKLIN E. BICKOW.

MOCK TRIAL HAD FAILED TO CURE SLAYER'S MIND

Montreal, March 10.—Before adjudgeing insane Maj. Robert W. Griffith, confessed slayer of William A. Holland, Montreal broker, a special jury was told today of a mock trial held in the chambers of Police Magistrate Cusson a year ago, at which Holland was "arraigned" for "exerting secret and malicious influence over Griffith."

Magistrate Cusson said the mock ceremony was gone through with at the request of a friend of Griffith in order to ease Griffith's mind from a delusion that Holland was exerting an evil influence over him.

Griffith shot Holland last January. He now will be held pending receipt of instructions from the lieutenant governor.

'SONNY' DUNN IS FREED; SISTER SIGNS BONDS

William "Sonny" Dunn was released on bail yesterday after two months in jail. Sixty-five thousand dollars' worth of real estate was scheduled for his bonds of $17,500. Mrs. Etta Enright, widow of "Boss" Enright, slain labor leader, and a sister of Dunn, scheduled her home at 1110 Garfield boulevard, Maude Hill, 5834 Calumet avenue, was the other surety.

Dunn, who was once known as "altperry" because of his habit of disappearing whenever the authorities began looking for him, is under three indictments, two charges of auto thefts and one of carrying a concealed weapon.

The latter charge grew out of his arrest by Deputy Sheriff Otto Gnewuch after many months' search. He was tried on this indictment under the Sadler act, but the jury disagreed.

So the People May Know

Rents Will Not Come Down Until Buildings Go Up

S. W. Straus & Co. Offers Capital to Finance Construction at 6% and a Reasonable Underwriting Charge That Will Cover Expense of Distribution.

IN VIEW OF THE HOUSING SHORTAGE that exists in Chicago and elsewhere—and the vital need of relieving this shortage in the interest of public welfare—S. W. STRAUS & CO. will make loans at SIX PER CENT in the form of first mortgage bond issues to assist in financing the construction of modern apartment buildings IN AMOUNTS OF $200,000 AND UPWARD. Our service charge to the borrower, commonly called commission or discount, will be only sufficient to offset the expense of distribution.

This policy is put into effect because there exists a menace to public health, morals, and national security, growing out of the existing lack of sufficient and proper homes for people to live in. It is our contribution to the cause of humanity—our response to the call of patriotic duty.

We, therefore, invite those who have deferred building projects for one reason or another to avail themselves of the service we are ready and most eager to give. Architects, engineers and contractors are urged to advise clients, who have been contemplating building, that all meritorious housing projects conforming to our requirements and safeguards can be financed immediately through this House.

Building costs have receded from 15% to 25% below the peak of 1920. Many commodities have been reduced as much as they reasonably can be, and prices of some materials, which have gone under cost of replacement, will rise again when demand increases.

BUILD NOW IS OUR ADVICE. IT IS ECONOMICAL, SAFE, AND PROFITABLE.

The underlying cause of the housing shortage and the paralysis of the construction industry has not been the high cost of labor and materials—although, to some extent, they may have been contributing factors—but the lack of sufficient capital to finance construction. Rents are high because SUPPLY IS SHORT AND DEMAND IS GREAT—and rents will remain high until supply is equal to demand. In other words, RENTS WILL NOT COME DOWN UNTIL BUILDINGS GO UP. Buildings cannot go up until they are financed, and they will not be financed until the money is provided. This is the whole story in a nutshell.

Plainly, the logic of the situation is this: The public should, for the time being at least, invest its savings and surplus in the safe real estate mortgage or mortgage bond, or it will continue to suffer from lack of homes and constantly rising rents. Those who need a home and are financially able should build for themselves. Those who are fortunate enough to have a comfortable home should LEND THEIR SAVINGS so that others not so happily situated may have a place to live.

There is something else to be thought of in this connection. Stagnation of the building industry has prevented the proper flow of general business. Restore building activities by helping to finance them, and there will be an immediate revival of every industry in the land. Thousands of men and women, now unemployed, will go back to the shoe factories and the textile mills. Railroads will be given freight to haul from forests, mills, and mines, and money will be placed in the hands of the consumer to buy the products of the farm, now locked up in warehouses and granaries because there is no demand. Every human activity will be benefited, and prosperity will return almost overnight.

We believe that money for building should be borrowed at SIX PER CENT. That is all a mortgagor should be asked to pay.

We will make loans ONLY on the best projects—those which meet the requirements of the STRAUS PLAN. Because of our nation-wide organization and a clientele of tens of thousands of investors, who rely upon us to furnish them with safe investments that will never cause them a moment's anxiety, we can market a large volume of such loans.

OUR MESSAGE TO THE BUILDER IS:

If your project is sound, we will lend you the money to finance it at SIX PER CENT.

OUR MESSAGE TO THE INVESTOR IS:

If you are looking for safety—and safety is what every man and woman wants in the investment of their savings—then the question of high yield should not take precedence over that which time and tried judgment have taught the experienced investment bankers.

Our experience extends over thirty-nine years without the loss of a single dollar to any investor.

JUNIOR CRANE HELD FOR JURY ON GIRLS' STORY

Makes Blackmail Charge on Witness Stand.

Herbert Prentice Crane Jr., heir of the late iron master, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Bernard P. Barasa in Sheffield avenue Municipal court on a charge of having annoyed Louis Sturm, 317 Weed street, and Marie Fischer, 1513 Dayton street, both 13 years old.

Crane took the stand and denied all the charges, and repudiated an alleged confession. He not only denied he tried to bribe the police, but asserted Inspector Kessel of the state constabulary had offered to drop the matter for $500.

In his decision Judge Barasa stated he was not passing on the guilt or innocence of the defendant, but held that in the face of the positive identification by the little girls he would have to hold Crane. The formal order fixing Crane's bail at $5,000, half what he had to furnish to the police court, will be entered this morning.

Crane Called to Stand.
Following the introduction of several character witnesses, Crane was called to the stand by Attorney Frederick A. Bangs. After preliminary questions Attorney Bangs asked him to explain in detail his movements on Jan. 26, the day the assault took place.

"I arose at 5 o'clock, had breakfast, read the papers and several books until dinner time," Crane stated.

Q.—What then? A.—After dinner I went for a short walk, returning in five minutes, and for more than an hour talked with Mrs. Fritz (the woman in whose apartment he lives) about Lloyd George and the Irish question. I bathed, shaved, and dressed for dinner, which took me until after 6 o'clock in the evening. I didn't leave the house until the next day.

At previous hearings Crane had been positively identified by the two little girls as the man who attacked them near the Grant monument in Lincoln park, throwing the Sturm girl to the ground, and a number of witnesses swore Crane had confessed to annoying the girls, meaning: "What a disgrace! What a disgrace!"

Tells of Arrest.
Q.—Tell me what happened the next day, when you were arrested. A.

About 9 o'clock three men came to the door, asked me if I was Herbert Prentice Crane Jr., and when I said I was, they said they were police officers, and thereupon, without further invitation, pushed into the room. Mueller (Detective Sergeant Charles Mueller) seemed to be the leader—asked me if I could go to the station with them for about fifteen minutes. He told me there was a trifling little thing the lieutenant wanted to see me about, and that it would only take ten or fifteen minutes.

Crane then told how he was taken to the Halsted street police station. He said he was taken into a room where the two little girls sat, and that one of the girls nodded when Mueller was asked if he was the man. He said he told the police he had never laid eyes on the girls, but they took him into a room and tried to get him to confess.

Not Allowed to Call Lawyer.

Q.—Did you try to call a lawyer? A.—Yes, but they wouldn't let me. They said sit down, or we will get you down. They tried to get me to confess, but I said I knew my own constitutional rights, but they told me to sit down.

Q.—Did you talk with Lieut. Kessel alone? A.—Yes; I was so annoyed I asked him to clear the room, and when he did he said: "Now, look here, Crane; your father's a rich man, and if you will sign this paper admitting your guilt, and give me $500, I will see that you go home and hear no more about it." I told him I had never seen the girls before, however, and refused to be blackmailed, and then they all came back and tried to get me to confess. I switched the conversation, however, and we talked of travel, politics, and athletics, and then they locked me up.

Victim of Shooting Dies;
Another Is Near Death

Michael Printy, 28, 2127 North Halsted street, who was shot while in the saloon of Doyle & Kelly, 2580 Lincoln avenue, early yesterday morning, died last night in Alexian Brothers' hospital. James P. Foley, 33, 2710 Lincoln avenue, was also shot, and is not expected to live.

Chicago, the Telephone City

MORE telephone apparatus (switchboards, telephone instruments, etc.) is made in Chicago than in any other city in the world. Over 60 per cent of the world's supply is manufactured in this city. The annual production of telephone apparatus all over the earth is valued at $110,000,000 of which $68,000,000 is produced in Chicago.

In addition to the telephones actually manufactured in Chicago, the companies whose principal plants are here, through subsidiaries operating in England, France, Belgium, Australia, Japan, China and many other foreign countries, project their genius in the designing and making of telephone apparatus into almost every corner of the globe.

This achievement is an example of the widespread influence of Chicago and her business men.

Chicago, the Wonder City—The commercial progress of Chicago is one of the marvels of the century. In common with other financial institutions, the growth of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank is largely dependent on the growth of Chicago. And the growth of Chicago rests on the faith and vision of its citizens. In a series of advertisements, of which this is the Tuesday, we are trying to set forth a few of the achievements of this great city. Chicago will continue to contribute to the benefit of its citizens in proportion to their faith in its future.

Miss Dutton Invites You Today

To a Special Fish Luncheon

Fresh Fish—cooked in real home style! There isn't anything much better, is there?

Steamed Halibut, Baked Trout, Fried Whitefish or Escalloped Oysters—the finest obtainable on the market and cooked to perfection—a real man-sized serving for only twenty-five cents!

Then there's fresh garden spinach with egg—a whole meal in itself—for fifteen cents, and other fresh vegetables just as good and equally inexpensive.

Salads of the most delightful variety from which to choose—crisp California lettuce with fresh fruits and vegetables with your choice of salad dressing—from ten to thirty cents a serving.

As for desserts, there's a special old-fashioned Strawberry Shortcake—served in a large bowl and topped with whipped cream—for only twenty-five cents. Or home-made apple pie—made from fresh apples—a generous piece for only ten cents!

And with a pot of piping hot Savoy Coffee—two full cups with two pitchers of real cream—for only seven cents—can any one imagine more or better food for the price?

Miss Dutton buys only the choicest of foods. They are prepared in real home style and all of the baking is done by electricity. The servings are most liberal and the real home cooking touch is discernible in all her foods.

Come in for the special Fish Luncheon today—and come every Friday. You'll find that Miss Dutton is as famous for her fish luncheons as she is for all her other foods. And come early. From eleven to twelve o'clock there are fewer people. Remember, too, that there's just as good a fish dinner tonight!

Bring the whole family in Saturday for some of Miss Dutton's famous fried chicken. Then you'll realize what really good food in generous servings you can get for a very little money!

WANDERER BORN INSANE, HICKSON TELLS JURORS

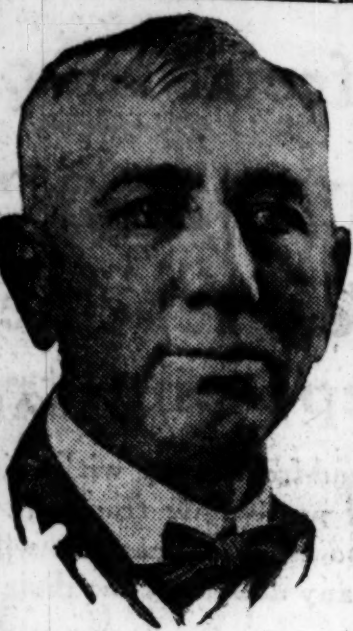

"Dementia praecox catatonica" is the disease from which Carl Wanderer is suffering, according to Dr. William J. Hickson, head of the city psychopathic laboratories. Dr. Hickson was the first of the alienists produced by the defense in an effort to prove that Wanderer was insane when he arranged the murder of his wife and a boy whom he hired to stage a fake holdup. He was on trial before Judge Joseph David for the murder of the "poor boob." He was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife.

After reading to the jury Wanderer's own story of the murder, which he said was repudiated, the state rested its case. Wanderer's attorney, W. D. Bartholomew, asked the court to direct a verdict of not guilty. Judge David refused his request.

Wanderer's father testified that his wife, mother of Carl, had committed suicide while insane. She was insane the ten years before her death, he said. Assistant State's Attorney Heth, on cross-examination, made the elder Wanderer admit that no doctor had ever pronounced her insane.

Dr. Hickson testified he believed Wanderer has been insane since birth. He had made several examinations. Prosecutor Heth cross-examined Dr. Hickson for two hours. The doctor admitted he believes more than 90 per cent of criminals are insane.

D. R. CRISSINGER.
(Photo: Vail, Marion, O.)
Washington, D. C., March 10.—D. R. Crissinger of Marion, O., was nominated today by President Harding to be controller of the currency.

Mr. Crissinger will succeed John Skelton Williams, who resigned two days before the Harding administration began. He is a lawyer and banker and lifelong friend of the president.

The nomination of Dr. C. E. Sawyer of Marion, Ohio, President Harding's personal physician, to be a brigadier general in the medical reserve corps of the army, was confirmed today by the senate.

CAN A MAN LOVE ONLY 1 WOMAN? EXPERTS DIFFER

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.
Can a man love two women at the same time?

This question, raised at the Wanderer trial and decided in the affirmative by Judge David, remains debatable. Judge David cited Henry VIII, as an illustrious case in point.

"All wrong," said Mary Hastings Bradley, author of "The Favor of Kings," which is all about Henry and his brides. "There was nothing simultaneous about Henry's heart. His love was mathematically consecutive. He loved the appearance of virtue."

Men Are Thousand Hearted.
"There are so many different kinds of love and so many emotions of which the human heart is capable that a man may feel any number of them for other women, while happily married."

"But when a man is honestly and heartily in love with his wife he is not, and cannot be, honestly and heartily in love with some one else."

Judge Joseph Sabath, who has learned about love from his work in the divorce court, said:

"He may love one, yes. He may love more than one, after a fashion. But if he doesn't stop at one, he never stops at two. He goes on to three, four, five, and six. Ninety per cent of the present day marriages, I firmly believe, are made because of love. It is only afterwards that the other elements enter in and lead couples to the divorce courts."

Can't Subdivide Love.

The Rev. John P. Brushingham voices this opinion:

"When you subdivide love, marital love, you cheapen it. When a man begins to cast his eyes upon a better model, a trimmer figure, a softer complexion than his wife's, let him reflect upon the golden rule in matrimony. The unit of society is not the individual, but the family. Preservation of the family ideal forbids the idea of an affinity."

Miss Marion Stroebel asks:

"A woman is interested in other men beside her husband. Why shouldn't a man have the same privilege? A man can, and should, have an interest in other women."

ONLY FOUR MORE DAYS TO SQUARE UP WITH INCOME TAX OFFICE

Only about 20 per cent of those who will pay income tax this year have squared their accounts with the government.

"That leaves 80 per cent of the tax still to be paid and only four days in which to pay it," said Collector of Internal Revenue Harry W. Mager.

The number of taxpayers will be increased over last year, as many service men who did not file then will have earned enough to put them in the paying class this year.

"Between now and March 15 we expect to be busy with collections, and the total amount will probably exceed that collected last year by a considerable figure," Mr. Mager said.

A salesman writes: Are the traveling expenses that are paid to me by my company to be included as income to me?

REPLY.
Traveling or other expenses (other than the saving on meals and lodgings) incurred in rendering services, which are afterward refunded to him, may be left out of consideration entirely when he makes his return.

WHITE PLAGUE DEATH RATE FOR CHICAGO DROPS

Prohibition Given as One Cause of Decrease.

The great white plague is losing its grip on Chicago, according to Health Commissioner Robertson's annual report on death causes which is nearly ready for publication.

Tuberculosis is listed as the cause of 2,652 deaths in 1920. This is 572 less than in 1919, and 1,175 less than in 1918. A combination of circumstances which, in the opinion of health authorities, include prohibition, cleaner air, and the removal by death from "flu" in 1918 of many sufferers from tuberculosis accounts in part for the big saving in lives. The 1921 reports so far show a still further drop.

Credits Aid Dispensaries.

"The marked decrease in the tuberculosis death rate in Chicago," Dr. Robertson said last night, "is due in a large part to the work done in our tuberculosis aid dispensaries. During 1920 we handled 32,000 cases. In 1915 there were 10,000 cases aided. We got hold of thousands of hidden cases, treated them as contagious, separated families, used more practical methods of cure. With a little more money we could keep the rate going down."

"There is a decrease all over the United States, but not so marked as here. This is due in part to prohibition. People are getting more sleep and are not carousing or drinking so much. Another aid here has been in getting proper reports. We had 700 doctors working in one year. Where there were twelve deaths a day in 1915 there were seven in 1920."

Death Rate Near Last Year's.

In spite of the deaths of 2,652 persons from "flu" last year, Chicago's death rate for the year remains practically the same as for 1919. The figures per thousand are, 1919, 12.52; for 1920, 12.77. The rate for 1918, the year of the great "flu" epidemic, was 17.01.

There were 24,841 deaths in 1920 as compared to 23,494 the year before, an increase of 1,347, but the increase in population held the percentage figure down.

Chicago continues to hold the world's low record for metropolitan cities on typhoid fever deaths. Only thirty deaths occurred from typhoid during the year. Chlorination of the water, the commissioner believes, had much to do with the new low record.

Deaths from pneumonia, which travels along the influenza curve, hit 3,815, an increase of about 160 over 1919, but only a little more than half the record of 7,000 deaths made with the help of the flu epidemic of 1918.

A comparative death chart including the chief diseases follows:

Cause	1918	1919	1920
Typhoid fever	38	31	30
Smallpox	4	0	1
Measles	83	197	89
Scarlet fever	48	118	181

DUBLIN STORE SUFFER RAID ULSTER BOYS

BY JOHN LESTER
Chicago Tribune Foreign News
(Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune)

DUBLIN, March 10.—About 200 Irish "republican army" men and women were arrested in a raid on a Dublin store which was suspected of being a headquarters of the Irish Republican Army. The raid was in defiance of the national prohibition law which forbids the sale of alcohol in Ireland.

The raid was conducted by the British army and the Irish Republican Army. The Irish Republican Army is a group of Irish nationalists who are fighting for the independence of Ireland. They are known for their use of violence and their support of the Irish Republican Army.

DUBLIN STORES SUFFER RAID IN WULSTER BOYCOTT

BY JOHN LESTER.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
DUBLIN, March 10.—About twenty Dublin stores were raided today by the "republican army" and books and invoices carried off. The firms were suspected of trading with the British in defiance of the national boycott proclaimed when Catholic workers in Belfast were expelled from shipyards and factories by the Protestant majority several months ago. Families of 1,000 of these are receiving relief from subsidized funds. A touring car conveying four high officials from Dublin castle to the vice regal lodge was attacked today on Dublin quays. Grenades were thrown and the military escort returned the fire. No casualties were reported. J. J. O'Kelly, Sinn Féin member of parliament for Louth, was arrested in Dublin today. Twenty-five Irish members are now imprisoned. Military headquarters report says there was a skirmish at dawn this morning between soldiers and insurgents near Mallow County Cork, and four rebels were killed and a number wounded.

MAY DELAY HOME RULE

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, March 10.—The British government will consider the request contained in a resolution of Southern Unionists adopted Friday at Dublin for a postponement of the opening of the Dublin parliament. The government will give due weight to the appeal in order not to interfere with the prospect of establishing peace and good government all through Ireland, he said. Replying to a question of Irish members he declared there would be no postponement of the Easter parliament. The premier denied a chain of forts were to be built between the north and south territories as predicted in a London newspaper.

TO RESTORE CURFEW HOUR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
DUBLIN, March 10.—[By the Associated Press.]—The military authorities propose to restore the curfew hour tomorrow to from 10 o'clock at night to 5 o'clock in the morning if the present situation remains unchanged, it was announced today. The hour was advanced to 9 p. m. on Friday last.

TWO IRISHMEN KILLED.

BELFAST, March 10.—A party of armed and disguised men today at Thurles shot and killed Laurence Hickman, a Republican, and William Loughnane, a Sinn Féin. It is presumed the men were shot in reprisal for the killing of James Maher and Patrick O'Mara, former soldiers, near Thurles Tuesday night. Several houses in Thurles were raided, but their occupants escaped.

MAKES BIG CUT IN COTTON GOODS FOR THIS YEAR

New York, March 10.—A long expected revision in the prices of napped cotton goods for the fall of 1921 was announced after the close of business today by the Amoskeag Manufacturing company. The reductions were from a basis of 37½¢ a yard for Daley cloth to 12½¢ net, and on the widely known 1921 cloth, from 35¢ to 12½¢. These are net mill prices. The mills have no stock goods to offer and the new business will be for manufacturing purposes only, deliveries beginning in June and running to October.

Printers to Meet Here on April 2 to Discuss Pay

Montreal, March 10.—Decision of the international joint conference council of the printing trades governing a reduction in wage scales has been deferred until April 2, when the council meets in Chicago, it was announced here today.

P. M. NEWSPAPER EDITOR TALKS TO MEDILL SCHOOL

"The Field of the Metropolitan Evening Newspaper" was the theme of a lecture before the Joseph Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern university last night by William A. Curley, managing editor of the Chicago Evening American.

On the difference between the morning and the evening newspaper, Mr. Curley said: "In the morning the people you meet on their way to business are serious of mien and dignified in demeanor. There is solemnity in their bearing which evidences a seriousness of thought and a grim earnestness. In the evening you meet the same people and they evince a frivolous interest in the gayeties of life. They take time for witty sallies and they talk with the easy cheerfulness of a heart liberated from the cares of the day." Next Thursday night, March 17, Edward R. Fullerton, telegraph editor of The Tribune, will talk on "Handling the Out of Town Correspondent."

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & Co

Women's Suede Strap Slippers And the Oxfords of This Spring

Both are included in a complete, well-chosen spring wardrobe. Each has its own particular place in the mode. Here are newly arrived groups which bring the best and the latest fashions in footwear at a very moderate pricing, they are

Featured at $15 Pair

The strap slippers may be had in gray and brown suede. The soles are hand-turned and the heels are in Louis style.

Third Floor, South.

Girls' Taffeta Frocks, $25

Choose Gay Worsteds for "Garniture"

A delightful fashion feature used in the most charming new ways, and so certain to meet girlish tastes for that "something different" always to be found here.

One Such Frock Has Quaint Pompons At the Girdle

The trimming is altogether out-of-the-ordinary — kidskin bandings buttonholed over with wool in bright colors. Very fetching on frocks of navy blue, brown or black. Sketched, left. Sizes 10 to 16.

Fourth Floor, East.

Girls' Tailored Coats, $20

Have Smart Contrasting Color Touches

Navy blue coats with tan color. Tan coats with Chinese blue. The material is a velvet, soft and fine, suited for spring. There is

Heavy Silk Stitching To Give the Right Tailored Finish

This coat is carefully made in every detail and nicely lined. In sizes 8 to 16 years. Sketched at right.

Girls' Polo Coats, $11.50 to $25

Almost exactly like the polo coats of grown up modes.

Fourth Floor, East.

The "Junior" Size Suits

Follow the New Modes In Youthful Ways

One may definitely trace prevailing fashions in their jaunty lines. That they are essentially for schoolgirls one knows by a certain swing of line and originality of detail—and the touch of restraint good taste demands. One of the newest suits is

Of Fine Serge, $50 With a Box Coat Charmingly Embroidered

The material is chosen for its smartness and "wear." The round collar is new and most becoming. There is a bit of silver thread in the embroidery. In sizes 13, 15 and 17 years. Sketched.

Other Suits at This Price May Be Chosen in Velours, Checks, Twills, Tweeds and Serges.

Fourth Floor, South.

Charming New Guimpes At $3.95

Soft, lovely affairs of net and of organdies, often with flattering little touches of color.

Some have round collars, others the smart Tuxedos.

Again there are some with frillings of lace, making a vestee.

Often a Bit of Real Lace

Inserted at the collar, this lace gives an exquisite touch. There are many different styles to choose at $3.95.

First Floor, North.

The Newest Dress Accessories Are Ribbon Sashes

Wide ribbons in all the colors smart this spring—henna, gray, black, navy blue—are used in these sashes. Some have deeply fringed ends. Note the sketch.

Priced $4.50 to $15.

First Floor, North.

Vogue Patterns In Chicago Exclusively At This Store

A new section, exclusively devoted to the presentation of these Vogue patterns, has been opened in this store. This section is situated on the ninth floor, in the north room.

Women's and Misses' Blouses At $5.75 and $8.50

Charming blouses—fresh and crisp after each tubbing—with the daintiness of fine dimity and batiste, and smartness in every detail.

Blouses of cross-bar dimity for misses, with the new round collar and soft cuff edged with wide frillings. At the right, $5.75.

Women's blouses of fine batiste with tiny tucks, the narrowest of frills and embroidery in blue, green or rose. Sketched at the center, $8.50.

A square cut quaint collar makes the misses' dimity blouse, sketched at left, unusual. $8.50.

Fourth Floor, North.

Here Are Frocks of Silk or Cloth

Entirely New, Delightfully Varied, at $75

And interestingly priced, so successful choice is assured. Fabrics are skillfully selected. Every new color is here. And every new garniture. So each preference is smartly met in these cleverly assembled assortments. Among the new are

Women's Poiret Twill Frocks With Bulgarian Embroidery Tellingly Applied, $75

This is one of the season's most distinctive fashions—clever in detail and essentially youthful in line.

The tunic—fulled at the sides over a slip of black satin—and the long oval neckline are features distinctly new. This frock is sketched at right.

Rows of Puffings on Misses' Taffeta Frocks, $75

A quaint, youthful fashion are these puffings and essentially this spring's, charmingly shown in the sketch at the left. In navy blue, gray, black and brown, with a touch of bright-toned ribbon and a vestee of embroidered net and real fillet.

Fourth Floor, North and South.

Entirely New Separate Skirts, $25 Are of Plaid

These skirts have just been unpacked. So every detail they bring is of unusual interest.

Box-Pleated All Around

The material is of that fine weave which wears so satisfactorily.

The colors are tan and navy blue, a combination much in vogue now.

Another in Tan and Green Further emphasizes the vogue of box-pleats stitched part way.

Both of these skirts are decidedly worthwhile values.

Fourth Floor, East.

Misses' Tailored Suits, $65

Accent Smart Lines With Clever Garnitures

In many of the newest this is a touch of gay color, as in the suit sketched at the left, with a wide sash of Roman striped ribbon.

The pleated skirt is a feature of the better new modes, and the short flaring box-coat is much in favor.

Women's Suits, $95, Cleverly Introduce Colorful Touches And so prove themselves distinctly new. An unusual suit has just a bit of a soft blue in the embroidery.

The collar is a new version of the Tuxedo style and uncommonly smart. The material is a fine Poiret twill. An excellent value. This suit is sketched at right. $95.

Fourth Floor, North and South.

Girls' Springtime Hats, $10

Charming With Ribbon and Flowers

Variety is the keynote of this collection of hats. Here are all the piquant "bow" hats girls are choosing now for their spring frocks and suits.

There were never more charming ways of ribbon and flowers as in these quaint pokes and mushroom hats, and the colors are lovely.

Girls' Tailored Hats, Smartly Banded, Priced at $5, $7.50, $10

Fine straws in the correct blocks for schoolgirls. Those in the higher-priced groups are of genuine Milan. Some have brims faced in contrasting colors, perhaps a vivid red or bright hue—unusually becoming and uncommonly smart.

The ribbons are wide and soft. Indeed, these hats are exceptional values at their pricings.

Fifth Floor, South.

WILSON V. O'DOWD RICKARD'S CARD FOR ST. PAT'S DAY

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are:
At Cleveland—Joe Lynch beat Joe Burman [10].
At Scranton, Pa.—Willie Ritchie beat "K. O. Chaney, foul [8].
At New York—Battling Levinsky beat Homer Smith [12].
At Denver—Bud Clancy and Young Fitzsimmons drew [12].
At Indianapolis—Navy Koston beat Bob Russell [10]. Buck O'Brien and Jimmy Cawley fought draw [8].

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

New York, March 10.—(Special.)—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, and Mike O'Dowd were matched today to meet at Madison Square Garden for fifteen rounds on March 17. The men will weigh in at 158 pounds at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the contest.
Marty Killean, manager for Wilson, lost no time in accepting Tex Rickard's offer and Paddy Molins, who pilots O'Dowd, signed the agreement clinching the match when the money consideration was settled to his satisfaction.
The bout will be for the middleweight championship and will settle the much mooted question as to whether Wilson is a genuine titleholder or whether his victory in Boston last year over the Irishman was the result of an accident or the work of a home referee.

Kansas' Demand Kills Bout.

This bout takes the place of the one between Willie Jackson and Rocky Kansas, for which Rickard negotiated. The promoter found the kid with the rough coated coconuts has placed an increased value on his services, and if the good folk of Old Gotham are anxious to see him perform they must pay handsomely for the privilege.
The Kansas fellow originally signed the dotted parchment agreeing to meet under an attack of influenza and that bout was cancelled. Then Rocky was offered a chance with Jackson providing he beat Ritchie Mitchell. Rocky did beat Mitchell and then followed the best in his own estimation as to his work as a box office attraction.

Wants Only $25,000.

In his modest way, Rocky wanted Tex Rickard to slip him $25,000 to meet Jackson, and Tex, in return, wants Rocky to have his head examined.

ROYAL WELCOME FOR CHICAGO'S SKATING HEROES

Chicago's eighteen champion schoolboy skaters came home in triumph yesterday, and were given a wholehearted welcome at a meeting which packed the city council chamber and overflowed into the corridors. The boys outskated the boys of New York, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia.

They were met at the Grand Central station by thousands of schoolboys and 100 firemen and policemen, with three fire trucks to transport them in triumphal procession down La Salle street to the city hall.
There were more than 10,000 persons in the parade, according to George H. Jenny, chairman of the mayor's ice skating finance committee.

GASOLINE ALLEY—EMILY IS GOOD JUDGE OF ANGLES

CITY COUNCIL BILL FOR 15 ROUND BOUTS READY FOR PASSAGE

BY RAY PEARSON.

Let's go! The city council boxing bill of which Ald. Joseph O. Kostner is the "daddy," a finished product and ready for legislative eyes, today it goes to the council for passage. The bill, which is being introduced by Ald. Kostner, provides for 15 round bouts, and is certain of success. The council judiciary committee yesterday took about three minutes to decide what to do with the bill, the decision being unanimous. The measure was recommended for passage at the council session. Therefore the rocky outlook with passage of the council bill will be ready for Springfield.

Numerous revisions made from day to day have changed the provisions of the measure somewhat, and according to Ald. Kostner, these changes have worked great improvement for the draft.

Calls for 15 Round Bouts.

Among other things the bill calls for fifteen round bouts, but not to decisions. In amateur bouts decisions are to be permitted. The hand of the law will be laid heavily on those who make boxing a sport for gambling. If the Kostner bill meets with success, there is a provision which prohibits betting and forces rigid enforcement, especially in buildings in which bouts are conducted. The promoter who permits betting may have his license canceled, while individuals who wager will be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punishable by a fine of not less than $50 or by imprisonment for not less than three months, or both.

Here's a Bold Feature.

It is stipulated that there must not be a difference of more than eighteen pounds between boxers in all classes except the heavyweight and light heavyweight classes. Promoters who "kiffe" with the commission—to be made up of five members and a secretary—by giving false tax returns will find themselves in serious trouble. This offense calls for a fine of $1,000 and cancellation of license.

The Kostner bill also provides that no one under 18 years old may attend a boxing show unless attended by a parent or guardian.

MARSHALL, 9; AUSTIN, 6.

NO. 11

JUDGE HOWARD HAYES.

THEY call him the "bustiest judge" on the track team for four years and captain of the team sent to the Paris exposition. Judge Hayes started his Chicago civic career as corporation counsel under Mayor Busse. He was special attorney for the city and park police boards, drafted the police pension bill and was influential in having it passed by the legislature, and was a special representative for the city at Springfield. He was elected Municipal Judge four years ago.

JOE BURMAN IS GIVEN TASTE OF LYNCH'S POKES

Cleveland, O., March 10.—(Special.)—Joe Lynch, bantamweight champion, tonight outpointed Joe Burman, the Chicago boy, in a furious round in the fifth bout of the Navy club's show.

Burman fought back and was in earnest in his attempt to take the championship from the New Yorker, and if not that, to outpoint the easterner, but he had carved out too much of a task for himself.

Lynch earned five rounds of the battle. Four went to Burman, with one even.

OTHER GAMES

West La Fayette, Ind., opened the first round games with a 33 to 14 victory over Beaver High of Bluefield, state champions of West Virginia. The Indiana boys bewildered the mountaineers.

The second game was a slow match between Athens, O., and Sandstone, Minn., won by the Buckeye team, 28 to 17. Four men were bounced on personal.

A fine battle wound up the evening play with Crosby High of Waterbury, Conn., the winner over East High of Rochester, N. Y., by a 31 to 23 score.

MISS CUMMINGS WINS BELLEAIR WOMEN TOURNEY

Belleair Heights, Fla., March 10.—(Special.)—Playing one of her best games, Miss Cummings of Onwentsia won the Belleair women's championship tourney today when she defeated Mrs. G. K. Morrow, the "Enviener" club, 7 and 6.

After 5 at the first hole, which she won, Miss Cummings followed it up with birdie 3 and another 5 on the long third, and stood 3 up. Mrs. Morrow had 5 and 4. A half at the twelfth settled matters. Playing out the bye holes, Miss Cummings continued her good work and her card approximated 87, the best round she has had here.

The first two holes on the homeward journey were won by Miss Cummings, 5 and 4. A half at the twelfth settled matters. Playing out the bye holes, Miss Cummings continued her good work and her card approximated 87, the best round she has had here.

Yussif Mahmoud Here to Train for Mat Bouts

Yussif Mahmoud, the Bulgarian wrestler to whom the late Champion Frank Gotch bequeathed his title, is in Chicago. After three months of training Mahmoud expects to be ready to meet Stranger Lewis and all others who will match with him. Mahmoud looks to be in great condition, but a trifle light, weighing about 192 pounds. Mahmoud is accompanied by his manager, Emil Klank. He will do his training at the Ferretti-Forbes gymnasium.

Do All Frogs Jump? Do You—?

Are human beings different? They say a frog will sit in the sun blinking and waiting till moved by either fear or opportunity. In these trying days of adjustment has the human being or modern shopper taken on the proclivities of a frog? Is it fear or opportunity that makes the human jump—both, we think. Many people have learned to distrust practically everybody. The fellow who wants to take all your money isn't even polite about it. But listen! Here's really an honest to goodness made-to-measure clothing opportunity worthy of a good, big, quick jump. To show our great appreciation of the 20,000 orders given us last year, we are going to make to measure, for Easter delivery, an all wool suit (extra pants free), or top coat, at $28, $34, $40, $44. Values up to $70. Positively no extra charges for special sizes, styles or new coat lengths. A small deposit will reserve any garment until Easter. Call today, tonight or tomorrow and inspect the guaranteed all wool values. Here's one store where you're not bounded to buy. Our values sell themselves. You're welcome anyway.

P. S. These values cost far less than cheap, ill-looking ready-mades.

COBB TRYING MR. PSYCHIC AT TIGERS

BY JAMES CRUSE

(Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune, Inc.)
San Antonio, Tex., March 10.—There may be a little more to the Tiger than meets the eye.

Mr. Psychic

James Cruse, a psychic, took a trip to Mr. Tiger's home in San Antonio, Tex., to see if he has the same power of mind as he had all the time he has been playing the outfield, running and hitting the ball, and as all the fans know, he is a great player.

Mr. Tiger is the most original player ever seen. He has that he has gathered up all the superlative words and is going right out into use regardless of what work they will do for him. He is saying next was a great player but in their battle this year.

One would think from all this that he must be a great player, but in their battle this year.

Mr. Tiger is the most original player ever seen. He has that he has gathered up all the superlative words and is going right out into use regardless of what work they will do for him. He is saying next was a great player but in their battle this year.

MR. PSYCHOLOGY AT TIGERS' CAMP

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

(Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune.)

San Antonio, Tex., March 10. (Special.)—There may be a surprise in the American league pennant race this year, and it may be the doing of a man named Raymond Cobb, the new manager, who is handling things.

The first impression, at least,

was extremely favorable. It didn't take but a few minutes for Mr. Ty to convince us that he has the same pep in his job of manager as he had all the years in playing the outfield, running the bases, and hitting the ball, and that's some pep, as all of the fans know.

Ty is an Original Manager.

He is the original manager. I ever have seen. He has lots of ideas that he has gathered in his fifteen years of experience. He is a man who is going right out and put them into use regardless of results. If they work they will almost revolutionize the game, and if they don't the folks will all be saying next year that Ty was a great player but was out of place as manager.

One would think from an interview with Cobb that he must have been a deep student of psychology in some institution of higher learning because

Ty Cobb as a manager is using psychology almost as much as physical attributes in his plans to guide the Tigers in their battle this year.

A Student of Psychology.

Whether he ever studied the subject or not, he knows as much about it as a lot of professors, and now he's going to put it to the experimental test and see if there is anything in this psychology stuff or if it's the bunk.

Perhaps a few words of Ty's past will be of interest. He's been in the big league fifteen years and has been a superstar for the whole period. Not in the last decade or more has he taken the entire training trip. For years he has been excused from morning practice during the season, and the team is at home. He even has been excused from the preliminary practice before a ball game if he cared to stay away.

In all this time he has gone into the game and excelled. For three years more he led the American league in batting and most of that time in base-stealing. He has been pronounced by nearly a person than Charles A. Comstock as the greatest player of all time.

No Morning Practice.

Now it seems that Ty, becoming a manager, has decided that morning practices are correct, and he intends to put them into practice for the entire team, modified more or less.

There will be no morning practice for the Tigers in spring training now the home grounds during the regular season. Players will be allowed to sleep as late as they desire during the training trip and during the season.

Of course it is figured they will get up about 9 o'clock, eat a substantial breakfast about 10, give that breakfast about two hours or more to digest and assimilate, then go without any lunch and report at the ground around high noon

At all times, while on the road, the players will have taxis to haul them from the depots to the hotels. There is to be no disgruntled members on the team from anything so small as that.

Has No Training Rules.

There are absolutely no training rules on the club. There is an unwritten rule for some of the boys who might still be led to sow some wild oats, and it is based on the rule used in the camp.

"I'm making the boys take it pretty easy just now," said Ty, in explaining.

"I don't believe in strenuous efforts at the start. It's a month yet before we want that strenuous stuff. I expect to let them have little more each day, gradually leading them up to the strenuous work. I'll have them hustling at top speed for the last week and hope to take them into Detroit for the opening game keyed up to the top.

You know I think it a bad stunt to start off with a rush in training camp and then start the fellows into the race four or five weeks later in a slump."

Last year the Tigers were away down, getting away to a horrible start and never getting their pep afterwards.

They had always relied upon slugging their way through to victory. But last year Detroit was the only team in the league that declined in batting, while all the others advanced.

Will Play Defensive Game.

Mr. Ty, taking that into consideration, has changed the style of the Tigers. They will play a defensive game and an inside game, with signals and smart coaches on the lines and the strategy that has been employed by other great teams of the past.

The team will be changed but little.

Law Blue, with Portland last year, is a sure starter at first. He is left handed and as nifty as anything in the league in fielding. Pop Young at second, Donnie Bush at short, and probably a young man, Joe Sargent, last year at Buffalo, at third. Jones is still on hand for the place and a young Bill

Huber aspires for it.

Ty Sticks to Center.

In the outfield Ty will play center,

Veatch left, and Hellman, Shorten, and Flagstad will take care of right. Mannion, last year with the club, will be first catcher, with Alsmith and Johnny Bassler, last year with Los Angeles, as assistants.

Howard Ehmke looks like the best pitcher, but George Daines, Dutch

Leonard, and Rube Oldham all look good. Then there is Bernie Boland and Doc Ayers of the old gang, and some fine youngsters in Cunningham, tried last year; Bert Cole and Carl Holling, found on the coast by Ty himself; Jim

Middleton, once with the association;

Harvey Sutherland, who won twenty-two games for Portland last year, and Walter Stuart, who was with San Antonio.

was called from San Antonio, Tex.,

by Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, recent affidavit covering an attempt at bribery in a Giant-Cub game in 1919, reached here yesterday, but nothing startling developed. Kauff called on Landis but the result of the session was not made public.

Another case was brought before

Landis yesterday when J. D. Thomas, president of the Akron club, appeared to seek settlement in the controverary arising over the International league's transfer of the Akron franchise to Newark. Akron desires to remain in the league, according to Thomas. Because of some doubt as to his powers, in a minor league case,

Landis took the matter under consideration.

dewight title, and Henry Irslinger, holder of the Lord Londale belt, emblematic of the international middleweight championship, are all set for their meeting in the main bout of the wrestling show at the Second Regiment army tonight. A semi-windup and two preliminaries will support the main event. Money derived from the show will go toward a fund to purchase athletic equipment for the regi-

HIGH COSTS DON'T HALT ROAD PLANS IN OTHER STATES

Vast Building Programs Are Being Pushed.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The country is preparing to build permanent highways, despite the cost. More contracts for more miles have been awarded this year than in 1919 to the same date. This situation exists despite the fact that the average cost per mile in Cook county in 1919 was $24,774, as against an average of $42,382 of the bids received this year. However, contracts awarded this year have fallen behind those awarded for the same period last year. These figures relate to concrete roads, data for other kinds not being available.

Comparison for Three Years.
A comparison of the number of square yards of concrete country roads for which contracts have been awarded in the entire country in the last three years for comparable periods is as follows:

Year, Date	Square yards
1921-To Feb. 28	2,614,250
1920-To Feb. 28	4,518,196
1919-To Feb. 28	3,901,570

This means that in the first two months of this year contracts have been awarded for approximately 252 miles of road eighteen feet wide, as against 442 miles last year and 270 miles in the first three months of 1919.

Cook County Decision Delayed.

The state of Illinois has rejected all the bids it received on Feb. 18 because Gov. Small asserted the price asked was too high. Cook county commissioners are considering contracts. The subject was shown aside yesterday because of a memorial meeting in honor of the late Peter Reiberg.

Pennsylvania has also rejected a large percentage of the bids it received Feb. 18, but it has awarded some contracts on which the price in some sections is above $70,000 a mile. That happens in expensive rock cuts. It has advertised for new bids to be opened March 21.

New York has advertised for bids on about sixty-five miles of roads, to be opened March 18. Ohio on the same day will open bids on thirty-two miles. But already this year New York has awarded contracts for 489,683 square yards, or about forty-six miles of the width constructed in Cook county. And Ohio has already awarded contracts for 332,550 square yards, or about thirty-one miles.

Of the states surrounding Illinois Wisconsin has contracted for more than thirty-five miles and has obtained a price which appears to be lower than bid in Illinois. Iowa has contracted for less than Wisconsin, but the bids appear to be higher than those asked in Illinois. In Indiana more than twenty-five miles have been placed under contract.

The Cook county board will decide today whether it will award contracts for 18.23 miles for which it has received bids, according to the present program.

U. S. to Resume Inquiry on Building Industry

The new federal grand jury will resume investigation of the building industry, District Attorney Cline said yesterday. Special attention will be paid to glass and cement firms.

TAXI WAR ON; EACH TELLS

Crowe Lays All
Before Grand

Chicago's "taxi war" for the grand jury week ended gathered by State Crowe in an investigation of the taxi industry. State's Attorney George Crowe presented evidence of taxi wars between police officers and other drivers were subpoenaed. The state's attorney promises to penetrate into the taxi industry, licensing, operation of every automotive vehicle in the city. Reports have been received from witnesses of virtually every outbreak of lawlessness during the last year.

Starts with Checker Co.
"I am going to stop," said the grand jury, "the reign of terror which has been in this city by any common, or organization; the taxi bombs, smashing, bombing of homes and places and the slugging and citizens," State's Attorney Crowe declared their war. The investigation of "taxi cab company is being a gun."

Officials of both the Checker and the Yellow Cab companies, declared their war and the inquiry in every claimed responsibility for the taxi cab company. Assistant State's Attorney placed before the grand jury evidence seized last night in a raid on the Checker company's offices in West Madison. Many of these documents were of a nature that would have been of great value to the company, it was learned.

Yellow Cabs Vs. Checker

A Tribune reporter saw the taxi cab situation. Apparently all clashes between the two taxi cab companies have been between Checker and Yellow Cab company on the one hand and drivers for some other or independent on the other words, the Checker have not fought among themselves. Likewise all of the taxi cab companies have been acting on the defensive.

Last year the greater part of the trouble has originated in the Yellow Cab company. The Checker Cab company is seeking the causes of the recent "war" the reported John Hertz, president of the Yellow Cab company, M. Sokol, secretary of the Checker company; Leonard J. Crowe, general attorney for the Checker company; a score of chauffeurs for hotel taxicabs, and numerous independent cabs. He also gathered into half a dozen business men.

Causes of "War"
In these sources it was conceded that the great trouble arose from a common following questions:

1. Rivalry between union and non-union drivers.
2. Taxicab stands and the surrounding them; the question whether any company or union holds the right to "stand" to the use of guns.

Public good will; no business conditions; the enforcement of city of governing taxicab traffic; the liability of the taxicab owners and operators of accidents—this last bearing greatly upon the esteem.

Nonunionism Irritates
The question of organization of the cab company not yet directly resulted. It has, they admit, been a constant between the Checker and Yellow Cab companies.

The Yellow Cab company in 1915, is non-union. All operators in the city are "union." Taxicab stands are a city ordinance on certain streets and midway sections.

The more busy stands loop district; of them the Checker and the Yellow Cab companies are the hotels and clubs. There are two hotels which have taxi lines of their own and the La Salle. Of these are the Chicago Athletic Club and the Chicago Athletic Club lines.

Cab company has its headquarters in the Congress hotel.

Many "Free Lance"
"Free lance" lines, which pay any commissions and connection with hotels, clubs and the like, are many—the Yellow and Checker companies, which have stations at places in the city, and the Union Star, Clover Leaf, Domino, Square Deal, Broadway Rate, and a host of others.

In June, 1919, numerous were made to the police between the Yellow cabs and the Checker cabs. The question was whether the hotel as a cab line had the authority to place immediately in front of the hotel for the cabs operation.

The question was tentative by the courts in favor of the Checker company. However, a week ago a taxi in front of the Morrison "free lance" cars—operating at a rate than the Checker company—the hotel doors away a great part of the taxi. Then comes the question of good will, around which is the charges of intimidation, shootings and lawlessness have aroused the state's attorney the views of this situation.

Grove Lays All Evidence Before Grand Jury.

Chicago's "taxi war" was laid before the grand jury yesterday. Evidence gathered by State's Attorney Grove in an investigation covering several weeks was presented by Assistant State's Attorney George Gorman.

Police officers and other witnesses to recent battles between rival taxicab drivers were subpoenaed.

The state's attorney's investigation promises to penetrate into the ownership, licensing, operation, and liability of every automobile livery vehicle in the city. Reports have been obtained from witnesses of the cause of virtually every outbreak of taxicab lawlessness during the last two years.

Starts with Checker Company.

"I am going to stop, if this office can, a reign of terror being inaugurated in this city by any company, association, or organization; the throwing of bombs, smashing windows, bombing of homes and places of business and the slugging and shooting of citizens," State's Attorney Grove said.

The investigation of the Checker taxicab company is merely the opening gun.

Officials of both the Checker company and the Yellow Cab company, the two leading taxicab operators in the city, declared their willingness to all the inquiry in every way. Each claimed responsibility for the rioting by with the other company.

Assistant State's Attorney Gorman placed before the grand jury documentary evidence seized Wednesday night in a raid on the Checker Cab company offices in West Madison street.

Many of these documents were bills of sale of cars from chauffeurs to the company. It was learned.

Yellow Cabs Vs. Others.

A Tribune reporter assigned to review the taxicab situation found: Apparently all clashes between rival taxicab drivers since 1915 have been between drivers of the Yellow Cab company on one side and drivers for some other organized or independent operator. In other words, the independent drivers have not fought among themselves.

Likewise all of the various contestants have claimed to be setting on the defensive. For the last year the greater part of the trouble has originated in the rivalry of the Yellow Cab company and the Checker Cab company.

In seeking the causes underlying the recent "war" the reporter interviewed John Hertz, president of the Yellow Cab company; Michael M. Sokol, secretary of the Checker Taxicab company; Leonard J. Grossman, general attorney for the Checker Cab company; a score of chauffeurs; and scores of hotel taxicab organizations, and numerous independent drivers. He also gathered interviews from half a dozen business men.

Causes of "War."

In these sources it was generally conceded that the great majority of the trouble arose from a combination of the following questions:

Rivalry between union and non-union drivers.

Taxicab stands and conditions surrounding them; the question of whether a company or organization holds the right to restrict any "stand" to the use of one company.

Public good will; competitive business conditions; the question of enforcement of city ordinances governing taxicab traffic; the question of the liability of the various cab owners and operators in case of accident; this last question bearing greatly upon that of public esteem.

Nationalism Irritates.

The question of organized labor, according to the cab company heads, has not yet directly resulted in violence. It has, they admit, been a distinct irritant between the relations of the companies.

The Yellow Cab company, organized in 1915, is non-union. All other cab operators in the city are "union shops."

Taxicab stands are designated by any ordinance on certain street corners and midway sections on certain streets.

The more busy stands are in the loop district; of them the choice positions are the hotels and clubs.

There are two hotels which operate taxicab lines of their own—the Morrison and the La Salle. Of the clubs, there are the Chicago Athletic and the La Salle Athletic club lines. The Town Cab company has its headquarters at the Congress hotel.

Many "Free Lance" Lines.

"Free lance" lines, which do not have any commissions and have no connection with hotels, clubs, cabarets and the like, are many—they include the Yellow and Checker cabs, both of which have stations scattered many blocks in the city, and the Diamond, Union Star, Clover Leaf, Surf, Chain, Domino, Square Deal, Brown, Atlas, and Rate, and a host of other minor lines.

In June, 1919, numerous reports were made to the police of trouble between the Yellow cabs and the La Salle Hotel taxis. The question then was whether the hotel as operator of a cab line had the authority to hold the space immediately in front of the hotel for the cabs operated by the hotel.

The question was tentatively decided by the courts in favor of the "free lance" as against the hotel drivers. However, a week ago a battle resulted in front of the Morrison hotel when "free lance" cars—operating at a higher rate than the hotel line—crowded the hotel doors and bore away a great part of the taxi patrons.

Then comes the question of public good will, around which is interwoven the charges of intimidation, slugging, shootings and lawlessness which have aroused the state's attorney. Here the views of this situation present ed by the executives of the Yellow Cab and Checker Cab companies.

President Hertz of the Yellow Cab company said: "Our company was organized in 1915, placing fifty cabs on the streets. We operated at a lower fare than any other cab line. We employed only experienced chauffeurs—reliable men. We began to advertise to educate the public to believe in our reliability and responsibility. We operated standardized cabs and obeyed the city ordinances. Public confidence soon was with us."

"Today we have eleven hundred cabs on the streets of Chicago."

"Certain other cab companies now operating apparently are jealous of our business, of the public's good will and belief in us that brings us this business. They seek through intimidation of our drivers to keep us away from desirable stands for our cabs."

"As president of the Yellow Cab company I welcome this inquiry. Our men have been shot at, our barns have been bombed, and our officials have been threatened with death or with injury to their families. We have been forced to act on the defensive."

Independents Band Together.

"The cost of liability insurance nowadays is almost prohibitive to independent driver. Most of them don't carry it—and, not carrying it, they failed to gain the public faith as we did through our announced and widely advertised policy of accepting responsibility."

"The independents wanted this public faith. So numbers of them banded together into a sort of cooperative association. Their cabs bear the same labels. They incorporated into 'companies'—cooperative companies. By organizing into these associations they hoped to dodge the city ordinance which requires each independent to place his name on the door of his cab."

Statement of Checker Chiefs.

Following are the statements of Messrs. Sokol and Grossman, secretary and general counsel of the Checker Cab company:

"The Checker Cab company was incorporated Feb. 8, 1919, for $2,500. At that time we had three stockholders and three cabs. Between that time and May, 1920, we grew very slowly—three or four cabs a month. We had in May, 1920, about 150 cabs and 150 stockholders."

"We then decided to increase our capitalization and take over the ownership of all the cabs in the company, issuing stock in return for the equity in the cabs. With that in view we authorized an increase of capital stock to $250,000."

"In July, 1920, we made our first appearance in the loop, taking over the De Jonghe hotel stand. Then our competitors immediately took the offensive and opened warfare, blocking our stand, wrecking our cabs and beating up our drivers."

"We put up a strong defensive battle and Ex-Chief of Police Garrity suppressed the trouble."

"Then certain city officials entered the fight. They arrested our men and locked them up—instead of serving a summons—on a charge of operating without a stand license, despite the fact that we had tendered the fee to the city covering all cabs in our service."

Wins Court Fight.

"The case came up before Judge Gurnea in the Municipal court Sept. 28, who instructed the officials to issue the licenses or face contempt charges."

"In 114 new cases Judge Holmes decided three in our favor. The judge decided our property rights were beyond question—the ownership was invested in the Checker Cab company. Following this decision our opposition again began their guerrilla attacks."

"We now have 674 cabs in operation; 250 more have been ordered. On the question of our liability, we have a fund reserved and constantly accruing at the rate of $10,000 monthly. We have paid every judgment rendered against us."

"Our drivers are union men. They get approximately $75 per week."

"We welcome any sort of an investigation of our affairs."

HIS MA'S 'CUTOUT' KILLS ROMANCE OF MOVIE STAR

Judge to Annul Marriage of Byron Munson.

With one stroke of a pen Byron C. Munson, youthful film star, can sever the matrimonial bonds which bind him to Mrs. Gwendolyn Otis Munson.

Judge Sabath indicated yesterday he would annul the marriage if young Munson would sign a petition filed recently by his parents.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Arthur K. Munson, whose husband is a member of the Board of Trade and a wealthy club member, filed a petition to have her son's marriage annulled. Yesterday she appeared before Judge Sabath.

"My son is entirely too young to marry," she said.

"Can you get a certificate from him authorizing an annulment of his marriage?" the court asked.

"Certainly," was the reply. "As soon the mails can deliver it."

Mother Sure He's Willing.

Young Munson caused a sensation by intimating his mother filed the petition because of the notoriety occasioned by the suicide of Lieut. Pat O'Brien, famous war aviator. Munson's mother-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Jane Otis, was the Mrs. Otis referred to in O'Brien's farewell note to his widow as "that awful woman who has broken up my home and taken you from me."

Mrs. Otis is the divorced wife of Dr. Daniel Mortimer Otis, former colonel in the medical corps.

Mary Pickford's Leading Man.

Munson, according to his mother, is about to sign a contract as the leading man with Mary Pickford. His wife joined the "Follies" in St. Louis recently.

'BEHAVE' 7 YEARS, THEN BE CITIZEN, VINCI IS TOLD

James Vinci, alleged driver of the "death car" used in the Enright murder, was placed on his "best behavior" for seven years yesterday.

He appeared before Judge Harry B. Millard in regard to a petition for American citizenship.

"Were you convicted in the Enright case?" asked the court.

"Yes," replied Vinci, "but the Supreme court reversed the decision, and I think I am now entitled to become an American citizen."

"Think again," said the judge. "We'll see how you behave for the next seven years."

The petition was denied.

HELD AS ROBBER; ALL A MISTAKE; POLICE BELIEVE

Kenneth McFarlane, 43 years old, 2702 Journey street, a foreman for the Printing Service company, 322 South State street, is under arrest for robbery. Police say it is all wrong and last night tried to obtain a bondsmen for McFarlane. He is held on a complaint signed by Dr. R. A. Ross, a dentist at the State street address, whose office was held up by a lone robber last Saturday night.

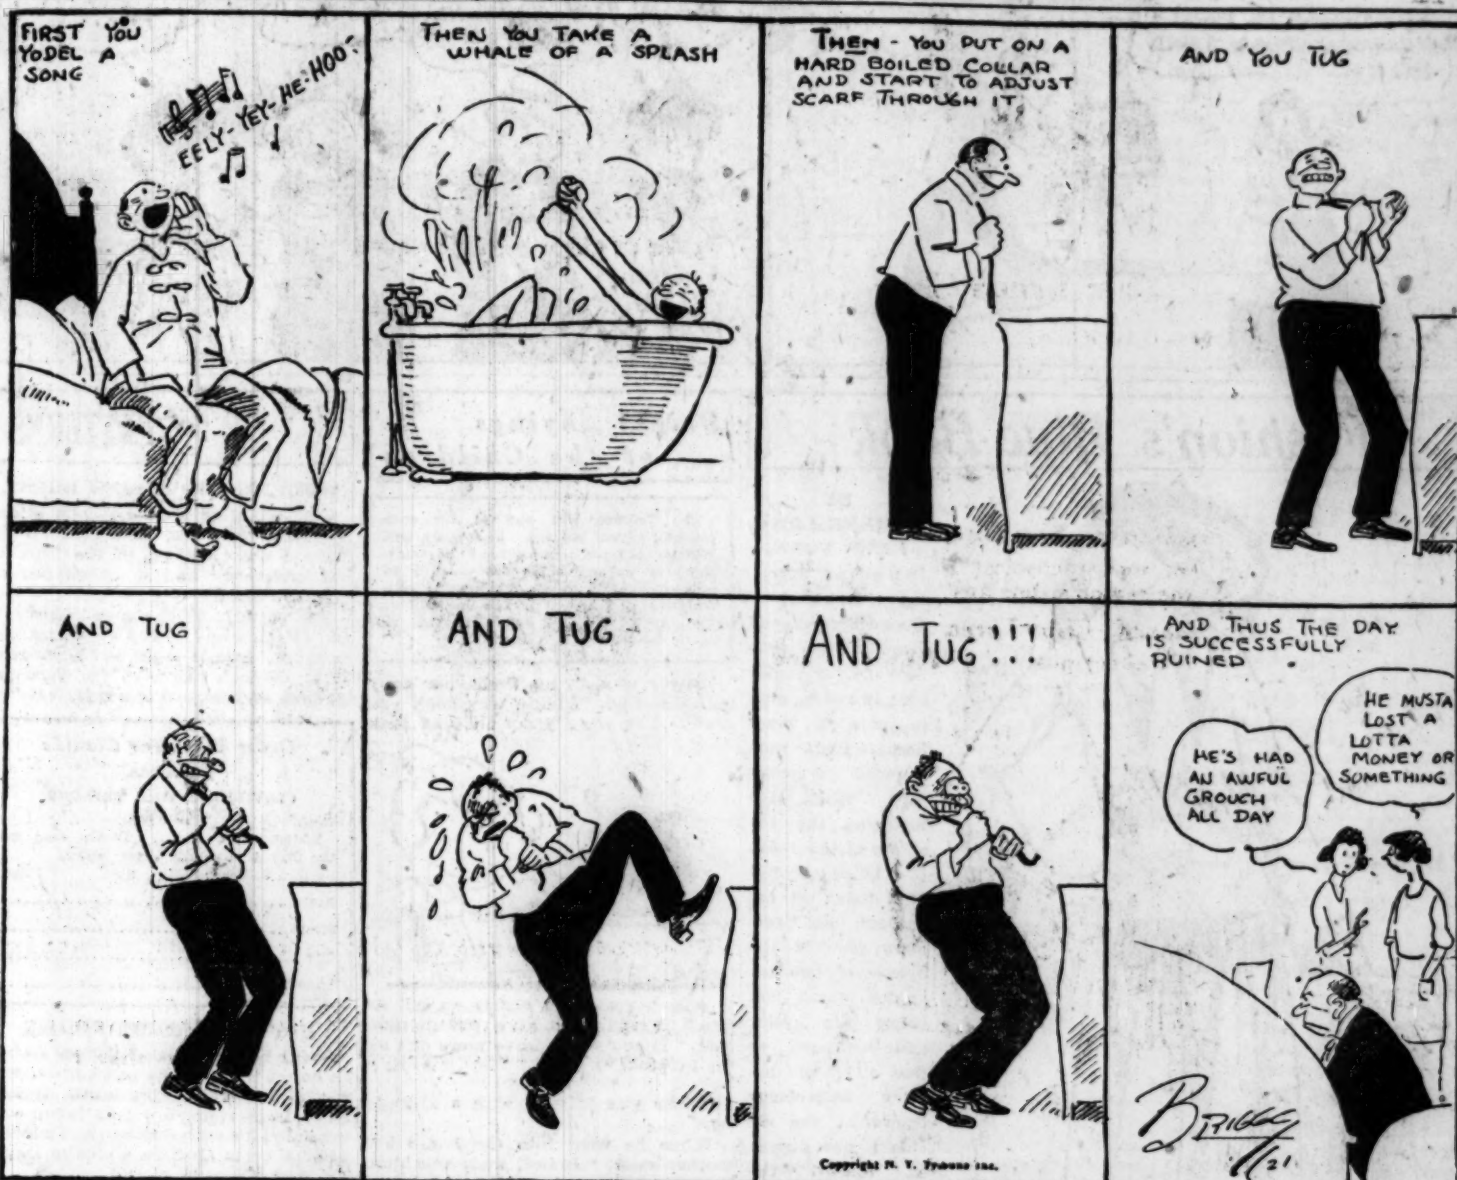

Dr. Ross and Dr. E. Curry, his assistant, started out to find the robber. They saw McFarlane, who worked on the floor above their offices, leave the building.

"That's the man," said Dr. Ross. Dr. Curry did not agree, but Ross caused McFarlane's arrest, and signed a complaint. When police questioned Dr. Curry and other witnesses to the robbery, they decided Ross had been mistaken. The case will be not pressed today, the police say.

REINBERG CALLED 'BEST FRIEND KIDS' OF CITY EVER HAD'

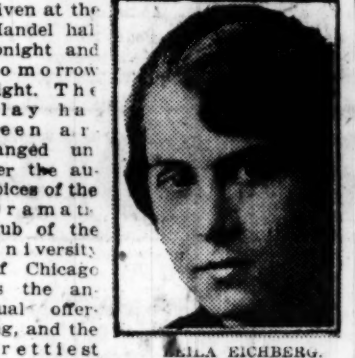

Friends and relatives of the late Peter Reinberg gathered in the county building yesterday to pay tribute to the former president of the county board. The memorial meeting was held in the assembly room used by the commissioners. County Clerk Robert M. Switzer eulogized the deceased county commissioner as the "best friend the kids of Chicago ever had."

PASTOR STARTS ROMANCE; TIES NUPTIAL KNOT

When the Rev. Horace G. Smith of the Hemmingsway Methodist Episcopal church called George F. Falley aside one Sunday morning last summer and introduced him to Miss Margaret Dickson, there was a slight twinkle in the pastor's eye.

"You should be warm friends," he said. "In fact, we all should. You know, we're all from Northwest."

It took Falley about fifteen minutes to learn that Miss Dickson was a Kappa Kappa Gamma, that she was graduated last summer, that she adored Keats, and that she admired big, handsome men.

Last night the minister smiled again. He married the two. Falley is president of the Falley Petroleum company, with offices in the First National Bank building. He lives in Evanston. Mrs. Falley is the daughter of George E. Dickson, 918 Elmwood avenue, Evanston.

GIRL TELLER, 18, ENDS HER LIFE WITH A BULLET

Crying that she was "going to end it all," Miss May Pollak, 18 years old, 1646 West Eighteenth street, yesterday shot and fatally wounded herself in a washroom of the Kaspar State bank, 1900 Blue Island avenue, where she was employed as a teller. She was taken to St. Anthony's hospital, where she died.

Employees said the girl appeared highly nervous when she came to work. In a few minutes she left the cage and went to the washroom. The revolver she used belonged to the bank, one being kept in each cage. Family troubles are said to be responsible for the girl's suicide.

According to officials of the bank, Miss Pollak's record while employed with that institution is without flaw. "Her accounts were in perfect condition," said an official. "She was unusually reliable and capable. We were sorry to hear of her act."

John J. McGhee, 26 years old, a roomer at 223 South Paulina street, was arrested yesterday by Police-man Herman Wiegman on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Mrs. Bessie Simmons, 28 years old, the landlady, whose screams attracted Wiegman to the house, said McGhee attempted to make love to her. She repulsed him and told his mother, Mrs. Martha McGee, who also rooms at the house. McGee asked Mrs. Simmons yesterday where he could get a hammer to fix his shoes, she said. She directed him to the basement. He came upstairs again and struck her on the head with a hammer, she charged.

Sanitary Trustees Back from Southern Junket

President Lawrence F. King and six trustees of the sanitary district returned yesterday after a three weeks tour of southern cities, where they studied methods of handling and treating sewage. Among the cities visited were New Orleans, Dallas, Houston, and San Antonio. A detailed report will be made at the next meeting of the board. Col. William V. Judson, federal engineer, who was taken ill while on the trip, is reported much improved. He returned with the party.

EATON HAS PLAN TO END DEADLOCK ON HOME BUILDING

Alderman to Take Crisis
Up in Council Today.

Action to end the stalemate between material men and building tradesmen on one hand and the would be home builders on the other is expected at this afternoon's session of the city council.

A resolution, drawn by Ald. Charles S. Eaton, calling on Mayor Thompson to appoint a committee of eight whose duty it would be to call a conference of labor union heads, material men, and contractors to smooth the way of the home builder will be presented. The purpose of the conference would be to establish "by mutual agreement" fair and stable prices for every element entering into the cost of building.

Mayor Favors Conference.

Mayor Thompson indicated he will do his utmost to make such a conference a success.

Ald. Eaton's resolution provides the committee shall be composed of two labor representatives, one builder, one material man, Building Commissioner Charles Bostrom, Ald. Joseph O. Kostner, chairman of the council buildings committee, and two other aldermen.

Ald. Eaton suggested last night that John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and William Brins, president of the carpenters' district council, be the labor members of the committee. Edward Hines of the Hines Lumber company is suggested as representative of material dealers, and Isham Randolph of the contractors.

"I believe the present building situation calls for immediate action and for agreement of all parties rather than coercion of any one group by another group," said William M. Lawson, president of the Chicago Export Builders.

"The common sense viewpoint is for every one to realize that action through agreement is better for all concerned than action based upon strikes or lockouts and that individual differences should be subordinated to an effort to bring about home building."

LANDLORD FIGHTS SIGNS

C. Frank Taylor of 315 Wilson avenue is the first landlord to seek court relief against the "unfair rent" signs displayed by tenants who are seeking increased rentals. These signs, furnished by the Tenants' Protective league, declare the tenant will not pay an increased rental nor vacate the apartment.

Taylor asks an injunction to restrain five tenants in his apartment building at 214-216 Wabash avenue from displaying the signs. He says he ordered the tenants to move May 1 so he could remodel the building into a rooming house, and charges the "unfair" signs are a reflection on his good character.

Walter Nielsen, a tenant, says he has received notice that rent would be raised May 1 from $57 to $100 a month. Herman Bernstein, another tenant, says other occupants of the building received similar notices.

Lumber Vs. Cement.

At the hearing of building material men before the Cook county real estate board, Wednesday afternoon, a warm argument, Mr. Irwin told how cement without the fire at the Edison plant in New Jersey. Then Mr. Wiehe produced a picture of the wreck, which showed no standing cement walls.

"It's a trick picture," Mr. Irwin yelled.

Pick Tenant Army Tomorrow.

With the support of Gov. Len Small, Speaker Dahlberg, and other administration leaders, hundreds of members of the Chicago Tenants' Protective league will storm Springfield next Wednesday, come Tuesday victory in their first offensive in the war on rent profiteering in Chicago.

Wednesday the senate committee on public utilities will report on the Kessinger rent control bill. President Patterson, Business Manager Potter, and other officers of the league, who are backing the bill as a remedy for rent profiteering, feel certain of a favorable report.

An important public meeting of tenants will be held tonight at Eugene Field school, 7019 North Ashland avenue. This will mark the first anniversary of the Chicago Tenants' Protective league. At a meeting at the Eugene Field school a year ago tonight the association was formed. The principal speakers will be Senator Kessinger and Representative Sidney Lyon.

The Inquiring Reporter Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Today's Question: What do you think of President Harding's cabinet?

Where Asked.
Lake and La Salle streets.
The Answers.
Joseph Nagel, 4223 Wilcox street, salesman—With the exception of Herbert Hoover, Harding picked some winners. They are all big men, capable of handling the job of running this country and, believe me, my boy, it is a big job. I think he could have found a better man than Hoover to fill the job.

Lieut. Edward Grady, 3211 Fourteenth street, police officer—I think the president displayed excellent judgment in his selections. This cabinet cannot be compared with the former body, because Mr. Wilson made too many changes.

A. J. Hennessy, 4029 Wilcox street, professional boxer—Listen, boy; it don't make no difference anyway. These guys are all Republicans. They may put your Uncle Sammy back in the ring again, but he won't have no wallop without the Irish Democrats.

Miss Margery Dalton, Plaza hotel, actress—Well, to tell the truth, I haven't had a minute to give the cabinet the once over, but I have a lot of faith in the president. He's a regular fellow and he'll have the proper men to help him.

H. T. Gronner, 248 North Oakley boulevard, bookkeeper—I don't think Harding will be satisfied with this cabinet—it isn't 100 per cent yet, because there are a couple of men to whom he will have to give the air.

The First Two Reels Are Often the Hardest

"THE EASY ROAD"
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Tom Farrow.
Presented at the Orpheum.
THE CAST
Leonard Farnes.....Thomas Meighan
Isabel Craig.....Gladys George
Katherine Dore.....Greta Garbo
Helen Hayes.....Arthur Carey
Ella Klotz.....Lila Lee

By Mae Tinee.
If you can stand the first reel or so of this film you'll like the rest of it reasonably well. But it does drag like all get out at the start.
There's considerable sense to the idea behind it, which is this:
A man does his best work when he has need to labor. A bed of roses is not conducive to producing the energy that gets results. Once get a man in the habit of idling and he's not going to labor unless he has to.

Mr. Meighan is cast as a sailor-novelist, an indefatigable and successful craftsman until he marries a rich girl. He becomes a waster. As a waster, he is not the man she had loved. So she leaves him.
Lower and lower he sinks, in the good old melodramatic fashion, until, about to commit suicide by leaping into the briny deep, his attention is arrested by Ella Klotz, who is about to do likewise. Ella's eyes are on the blink.
She leaps, goes under, and he saves her. The cold water steadies his departing and drunken senses. With his sudden burden he goes back to the business of living.
The best that can be said of Ella is that she is a good girl. She's awfully tacky and illiterate and clumsy. (Hard to imagine Lila Lee that way, isn't it?) Just the same, Mr. Farnes isn't going to rescue anything and leave it to wander disconsolately around under other people's feet. So he has somebody else to her eyes and he lets her keep house for him, wait on him, etc.
The gentleman who would like to marry Mrs. Farnes discovers that Miss Klotz's existence and gets pretty nasty. But Mrs. Farnes, who still loves Mr. Farnes, comes to see for herself. Happy ending.
As I said, if you live through the first two reels—it's quite a nice picture.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Baked Fish Balls.

At the present price of fine codfish middles, fish balls or any of the nice codfish dishes made from boiled codfish are a luxury, but from the cosmopolitan standpoint these are the most essential of Eastern dishes. By the way, we should not say boiled codfish in speaking of the cooking of codfish preparatory to the making of any one of a great number of dishes. If it is really boiled the fibers are hardened. After soaking all night or longer it should be put over the fire in cold water, and be made slowly hot, then cooked at what is called a poaching temperature.

Codfish is ideally cooked when every one of its silvery shanks is as soft as those of fresh fish. A flake of fish may seem comparatively soft when in reality these fibers are tough or uncooked.

One cup of boiled codfish, shredded, two cups mashed potatoes, thoroughly mixed, seasoned to taste, wet with one-fourth cup of boiled milk, will make a dozen fish balls of ordinary size, or ten of a little larger size. Peppering, if desired, can be used in the seasoning. A little flour on the hands is an economy when rolling the balls. Dip up amount needed with a tablespoon, transfer to floured hands. After the balls are made, they may stand some hours or overnight before being cooked.

When ready to cook have the broiling oven as hot as you can get it. Roll balls in egg and bread crumbs, sprinkle them a few drops of vegetable oil, and put into broiling oven quite near the fire. They should brown in about eight minutes. Take out and brown bottom directly over gas burner. A short handled frying pan is an excellent utensil to use for this work.

HOOVER PLANS WIDE REFORMS TO HELP TRADE

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Washington, D. C., March 10.—(Special.)—Radical changes in the scope of activities of the department of commerce will await the action of the joint congressional commission, which has begun work on a scheme for the reorganization of all government departments, Secretary of Commerce Hoover announced today.

In the meantime Mr. Hoover will devote his attention to plans for enlarging the field of usefulness of the department, which will not require either legislation or additional appropriations.

Program Laid by Hoover

Among his ideas for immediate activity Mr. Hoover made known the following:

Establishment of a wider and better organized cooperation with the trade and commercial associations as part of an effort to provide a contact between industry in this country and the foreign agents of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

A constructive study of all problems having a fundamental bearing on the recovery in commerce, such as the question of transportation, including railroad, ocean, and inland waterway, power development, and labor readjustment.

Extension of standardization in manufactured products through voluntary agreement of the manufacturers under the leadership of the department.

Promotion of greater efficiency in industry to aid in meeting the competition of other nations which have cheaper labor costs.

Constructive action toward applying idle labor in such needed projects as housing, development of power plants, waterways, and highways.

Will Help Smoot Committee

Secretary Hoover declared his intention to cooperate to the fullest extent with the joint congressional commission, headed by Senator Smoot, which will work out a program for the reorganization of government departments. He said he would not depart from his views on the subject in advance of the investigation of the whole field by this commission.

It is Mr. Hoover's belief that the conflict between the department of commerce and the state department over foreign trade activities can be solved to a large extent by an agreement between himself and Secretary of State Hughes defining the work of each.

A Young Man and His Disease

How He Was Helped by This Institution and Saved From a Ruinous Course

HIS infection threw him into a panic. He didn't know what to do. He was afraid—ashamed to have his predicament known. His first thought (as it is with so many others) was to try to cure himself with "patent remedies." Besides that was the less costly way, and he lacked money.

Fortunately, he didn't go through with his intention. In a moment of desperation he confided in a friend who directed him to the Public Health Institute, where he received the proper medical treatment and care in privacy at a small cost.

But suppose he had followed in his first thought. His patent "cures" would have but made his condition worse and worse. In the end it might have meant insanity, paralysis, blindness or worse. More than that, he might have infected others—innocent others—in countless ways.

Are You Diseased?
Every day the Public Health Institute is helping infected people and thereby reducing the prevalence of venereal disease. Anybody suffering from such a disease, no matter how acute or chronic, is invited to come to the Institute for treatment. The facilities are the finest to be had for the purpose, and the cost is very small. For the prominent citizens who founded the Institute did so to bring the very best of medical treatment within the reach of all, even the poorest.

There is no embarrassment experienced in calling at the Institute. Everything is private. No delay, no waiting in a reception room full of people. For the Institute can handle 30 patients at a time, each in a private treatment room. Special department for women.

Hours from 10 in the morning until 8 in the evening. Arrange your treatment to suit your own convenience. If you can't come during the day, come in the evening after working hours.

Complete explanatory booklet sent by mail (under plain cover) postpaid and free. If you are suffering from a venereal disease act instantly for your own sake and for the sake of others near and dear to you.

Tender Gums —A Warning

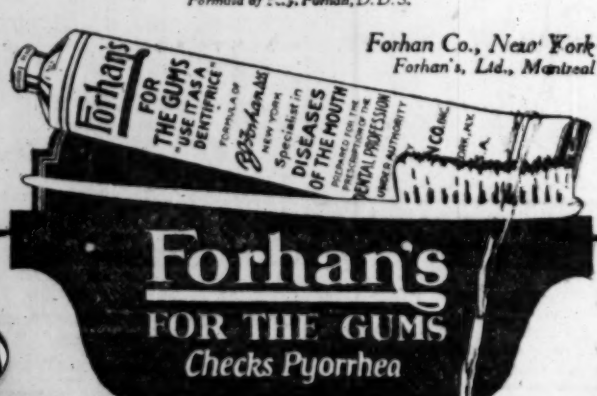

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea—many under forty, also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes. All druggists.

New York, March 10.—The attention which has been directed to the railroads by the war earnings reports and public statements regarding the character of the industry today in distinct contrast with the industry of a few years ago. Such declines as 14 1/2 and 15 1/2 in Penn. New York Central, 3 1/2 in Northern Pacific were larger selling than has been seen in the recent market. The decline in the stock market as a whole is the influence of this total transactions were any day since Jan. 20.

Following Wednesday by the Pennsylvania program of "horizontal" reduction would be undertaken, though with both of the scale of pay in other industries and between the wage rate living in the New York Central a similar announcement was naturally taken.

The proposed reduction accepted by the railway union, in which case the made automatically, or acquiesced officially in the referred to the railway provided by the law. The street viewpoint the including for the same reason a wage reduction in the railway industry, because it lays on the character which was already visible.

Rail Inquiry W. In the case of the railway union to welcome the bringing to an issue. The was that matters might, circumstances, be allowed day's announcement that a "sweeping investigation" whole railway situation reduced in the senate was resounding.

Even a hostile investigation facts which are beyond dispute when congress will mine, for itself and for large, why its own purpose in the railway act of a failed fulfillment. That, the committee would have to inquire whether the labor costs. Little attention was given to the railway union's position when congress will mine, for itself and for large, why its own purpose in the railway act of a failed fulfillment. That, the committee would have to inquire whether the labor costs.

POOR RAINING OF GRAINS BRINGS DROP IN PRICES

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Lack of outside buying offset the influence of light country offerings of all grains yesterday and after a brief early showing of strength prices slid off. The close was weak at the inside of the day, with a tame, distrustful feeling.

Economic conditions, increasing labor troubles, prospects of a strike at leading stockyards, the weakness of stocks in Wall Street, and a moderate decline in cotton all counted against grain prices. Not homes for the day were 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 on wheat, May leading. Corn was 1/4 to 1/2 on 1/2 to 1/2, and barley was 1/4 to 1/2 on 1/2 to 1/2, and was unchanged.

France Buys in Argentina.

The effect of claims that three cargoes of wheat were bought at 100 cents in Argentina, with some purchases by Italy and sales of 200,000 bu. by a Chicago house for export, was largely nullified by the confirmed report that France had found Argentine wheat prices too high and had purchased its requirements in Argentina at 10 cents. This controverted the claim of the previous day that there was only a slight difference in price, it being a matter of how the different trade figured.

Traders loaded up early and sold out later, making a decline of 2 1/2 on March and 1/2 on May, with the inside 1 1/2 for March and 1 1/2 for May.

Green Buys for Damages.

Green buyers reported from the southwest were more numerous with the insects report at work in Oklahoma and southern Kansas. Chicago men back from a run through Kansas say the weather is warm, dry, and dusty, with the wheat up six inches and being pastured. The report confirmed by the Kansas weather report, which says southern Kansas needs rain.

Pressure on corn came from local operators and buying was limited. There was little in the market other than foreign wheat. At the inside prices were 1 1/2 for the top, with the finish at 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 for May. Export demand was not as urgent, with prices 1 1/2 over May, track Baltimore, the lowest so far.

A small trade was in oats, with prices off 1/2. There was a little hedging business by J. Rosenbaum, while the buying was mainly by the northwest for July.

Cash rye was offered at 2 1/2 over Chicago May, track Baltimore, without bids. Speculative trading was light.

Provisions Finish Low.

Commission houses, which have been the best buyers of lard and ribs, were sellers yesterday, Logan & Bryan leading. Storage interests were also sellers of lard, said to represent cash business. At the close prices were at the lowest, with lard off 1/2, ribs 1/2 lower to unchanged, and pork unchanged. Prices followed:

RAILROAD NOTES

The Missouri house has passed a bill to reduce state railroad passenger rates from 3.6 cents per mile to 2 1/2 cents.

Fewer immigrants are remaining in Chicago than before the war, according to census officials of the Erie. The system handles about four movements of this size a month. The train arriving this week is an exception. Of a total of 253 immigrants, 106 were ticketed to Chicago.

P. S. Eustis, passenger traffic manager of the Burlington, stated yesterday his company would make the necessary changes in bus train service to conform to the Chicago daylight saving plan, as a matter of convenience to suburban trains, print a suburban time table folder to show schedules of suburban trains "in the face of Chicago's 20th anniversary celebration time tables and operating cards of time to show standard times.

"Information."
"Say, listen, do you know any telephone operators more beautiful than those whose photographs appear this morning?"
(The line seems to be busy.)
Well, the point is that the girls who go with the soft voices cease to be a mystery this morning.

Above are sixteen who are entrants in THE TRIBUNE'S $20,000 beauty contest.
You can't imagine any of these ever giving you the wrong number, can you?
Will the $10,000 prize winner be found at a switchboard?
Ten thousand dollars will be awarded to the most beautiful girl in the central west when she is found. In addition ten prizes will be distributed in each of the six territorial divisions—the city of Chicago, the state of Illinois outside of Chicago, the state of Indiana, the state of Iowa, the state of Wisconsin, and the state of Michigan.

The first prize in each of these divisions will be $1,000, the second $250, the third $100, and the remaining seven $50 each.
The grand prize winner will receive not only $10,000 in cash but also one of the sixty territorial prizes.

The contest is open to every girl, unmarried or a widow, who resides anywhere in the five states, except professional beauties.
Select a photograph of yourself or some girl friend and write plainly on the back of it the name, street address, and occupation of the entrant.
Send the photograph to "Beauty Contest," CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 7 South Dearborn street, Chicago.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

Test It Every Day Yourself—
Keep It On the Kitchen Shelf

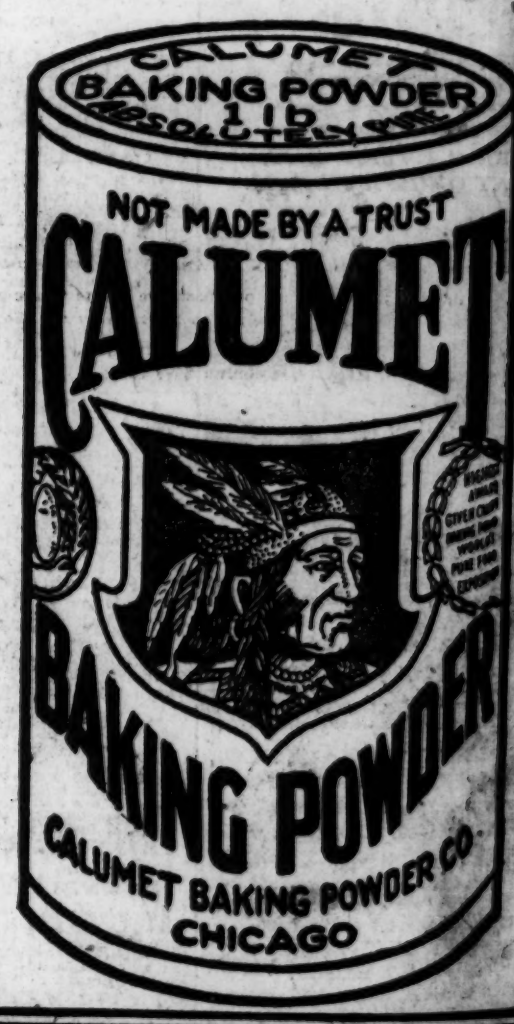

It is the duty of every housewife to prepare and serve pure and wholesome food—at the most economical cost.

When you use Calumet you have no doubts—you know that it is pure in the can—pure in the baking.

Every ingredient used in the manufacture of Calumet is critically tested by expert analytical chemists. Every material must measure up to a definite standard of perfection.

After the various ingredients are combined it is again tested for purity—and last by skilled chefs, for baking quality.

The quality never varies—every can contains baking powder of more than ordinary leavening strength—of absolute dependability.

Calumet is used by leading Chefs, Domestic Scientists, Restaurants, Hotels, Railroads—because it gives best results. The most critical and exacting buyers of baking powder, say that Calumet is the purest, most dependable, most economical baking powder manufactured.

Made in the largest and most sanitary baking powder factories in existence.

Sold under a guarantee of money back if you don't find it "Best by Test."

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce cans instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.
